Wild Cat

1985

We've Got It . . .

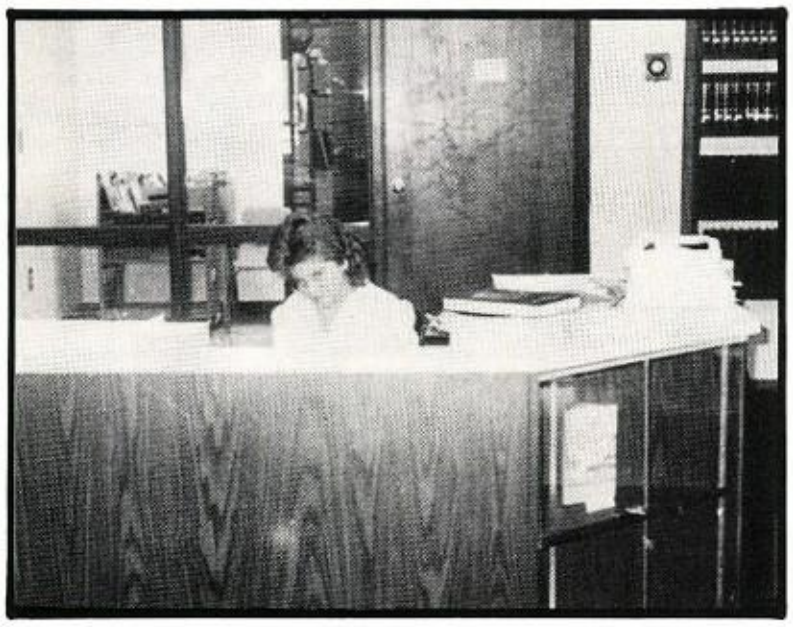
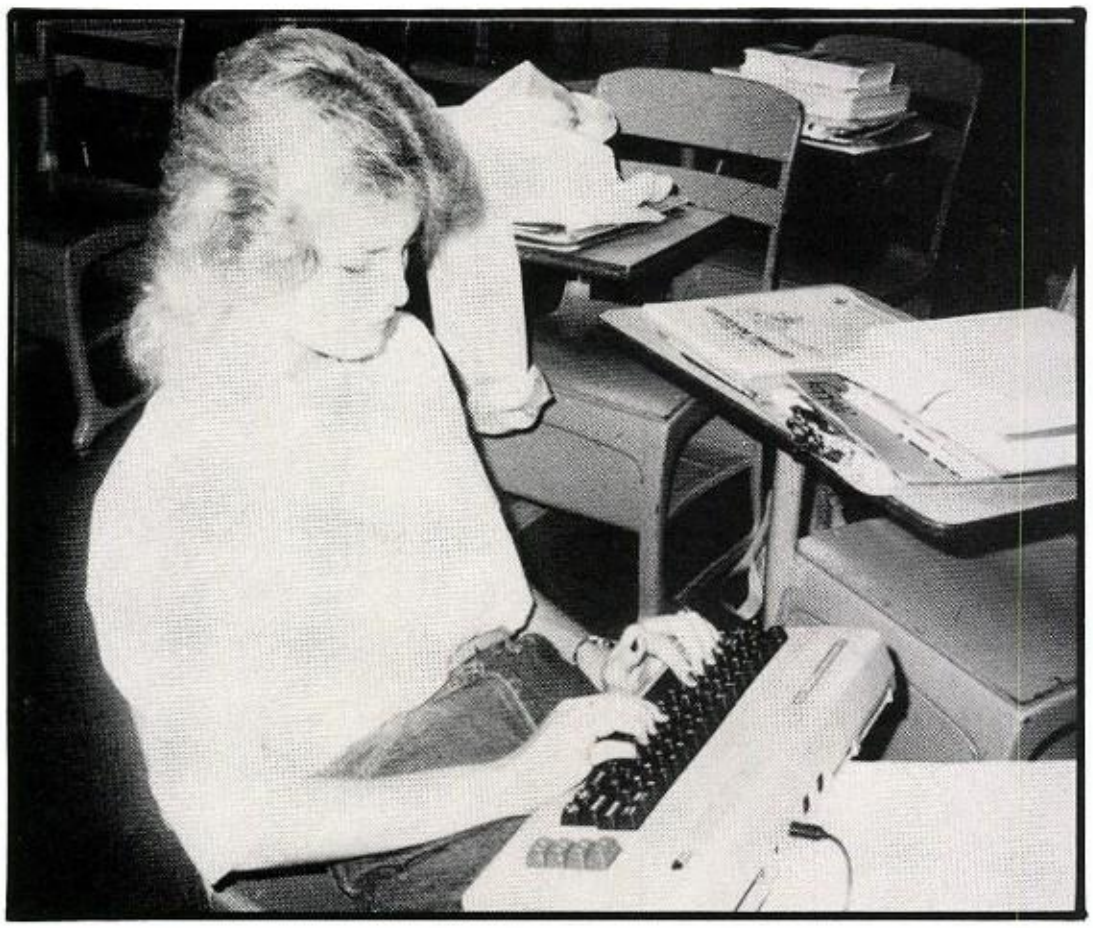
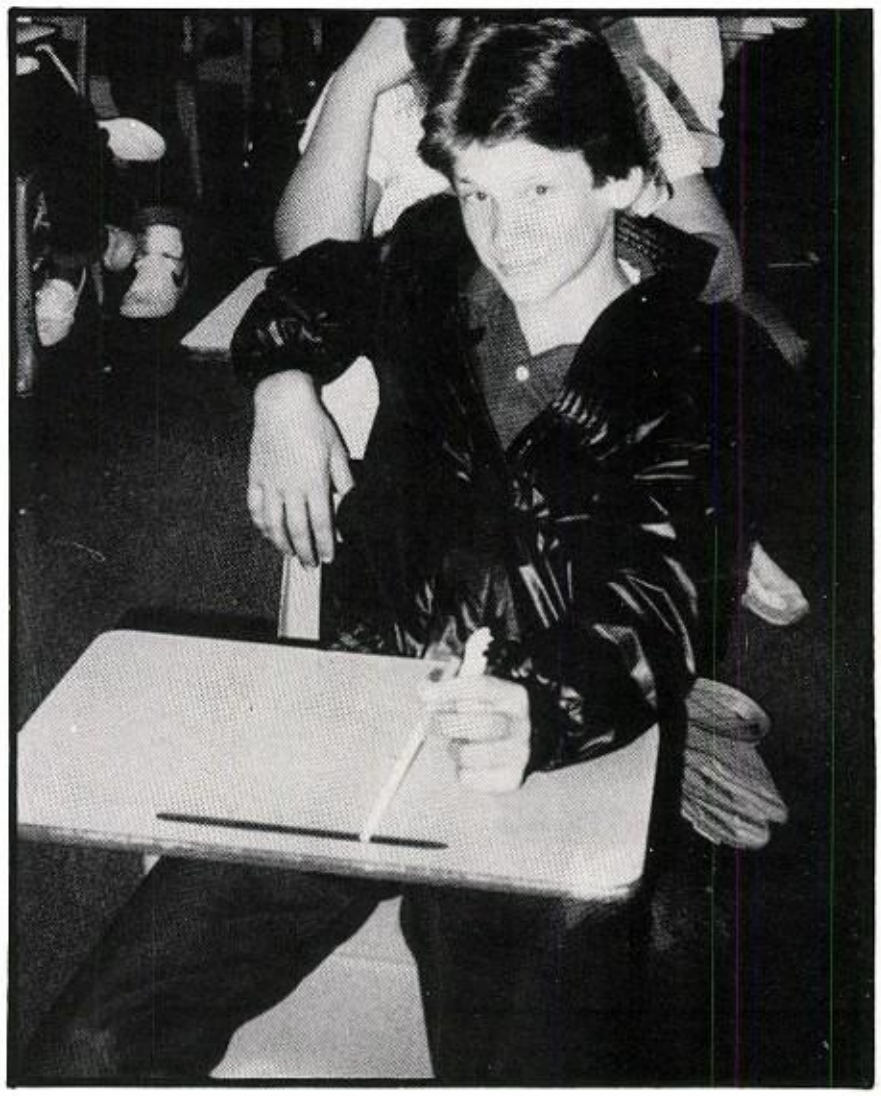
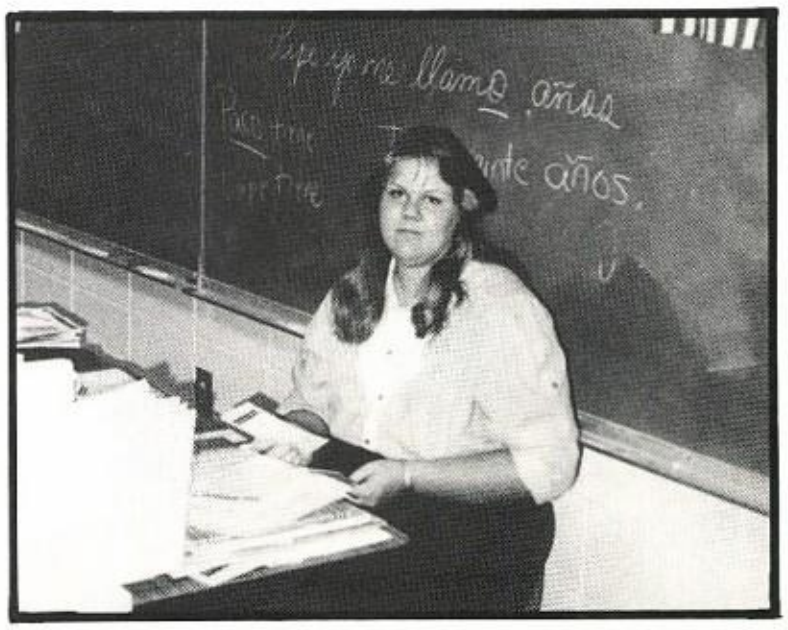
Good times, outstanding accomplishments, and unforgettable moments.

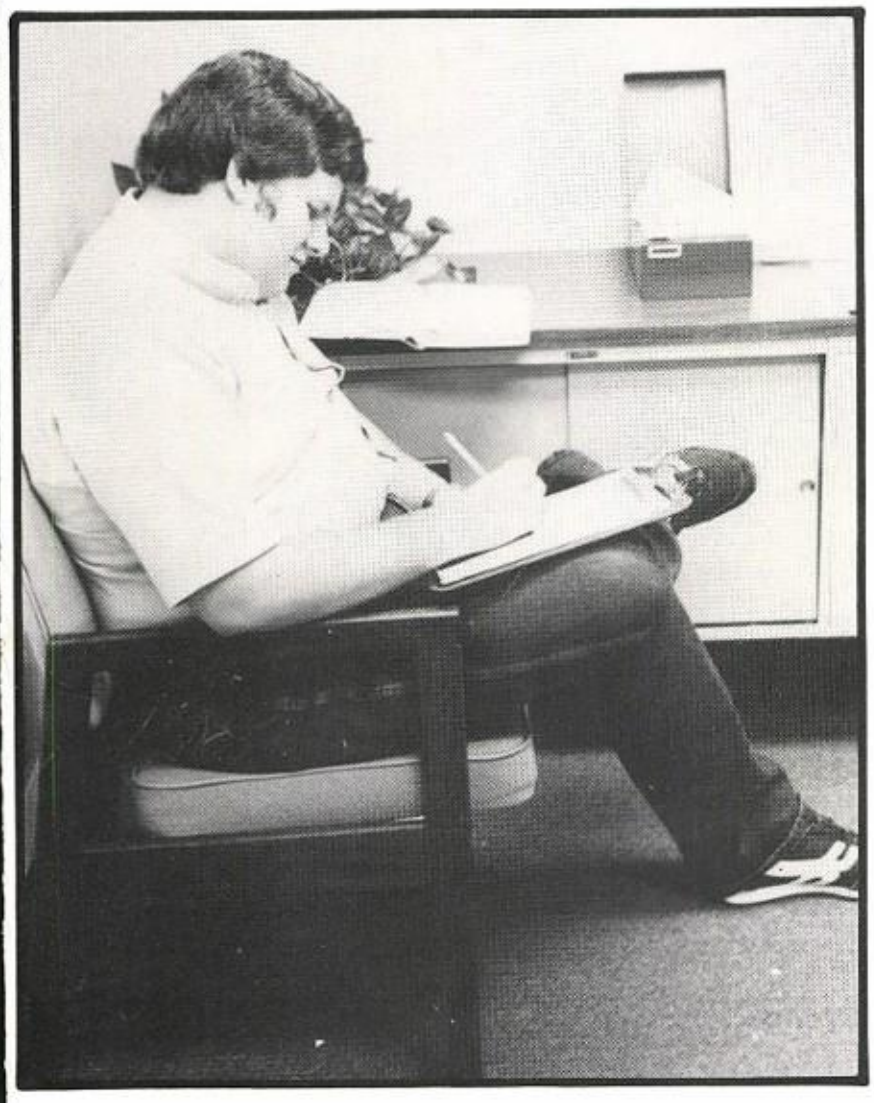


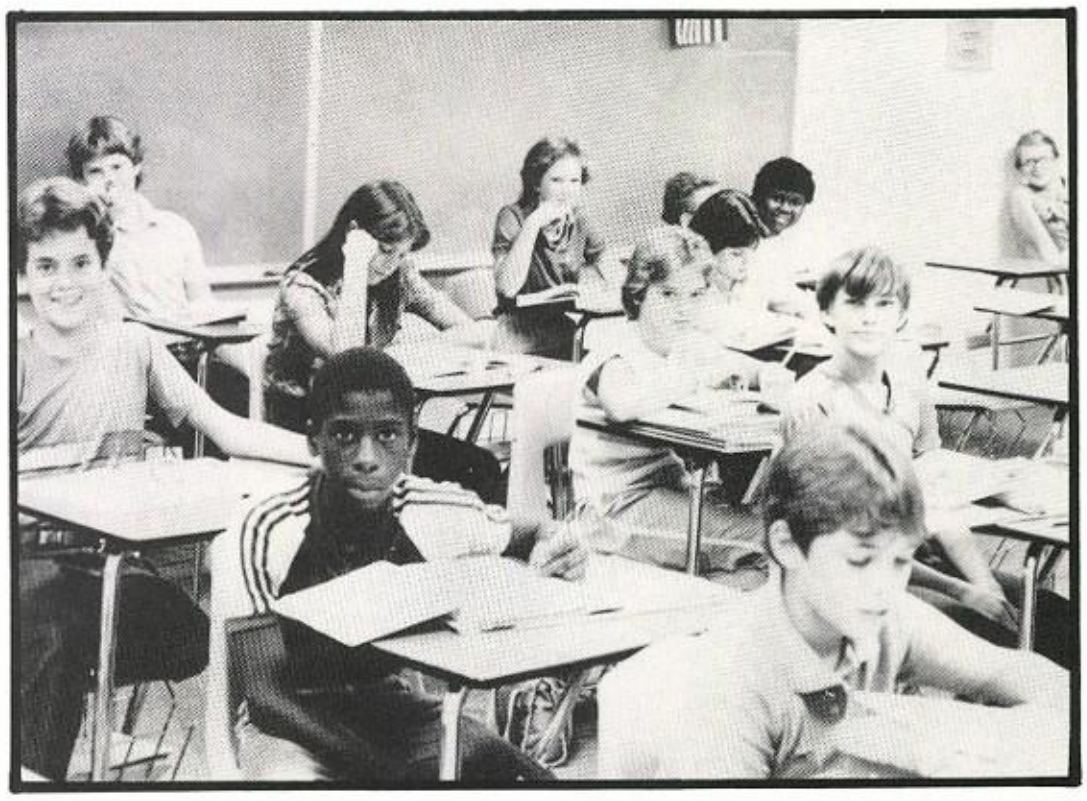




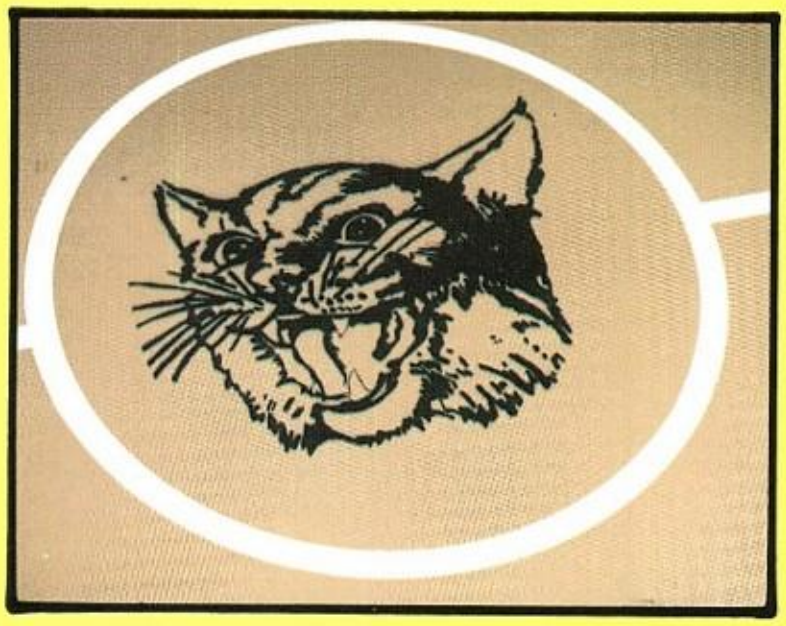
Each passing day adds new memories of our years at Richmond Hill High.

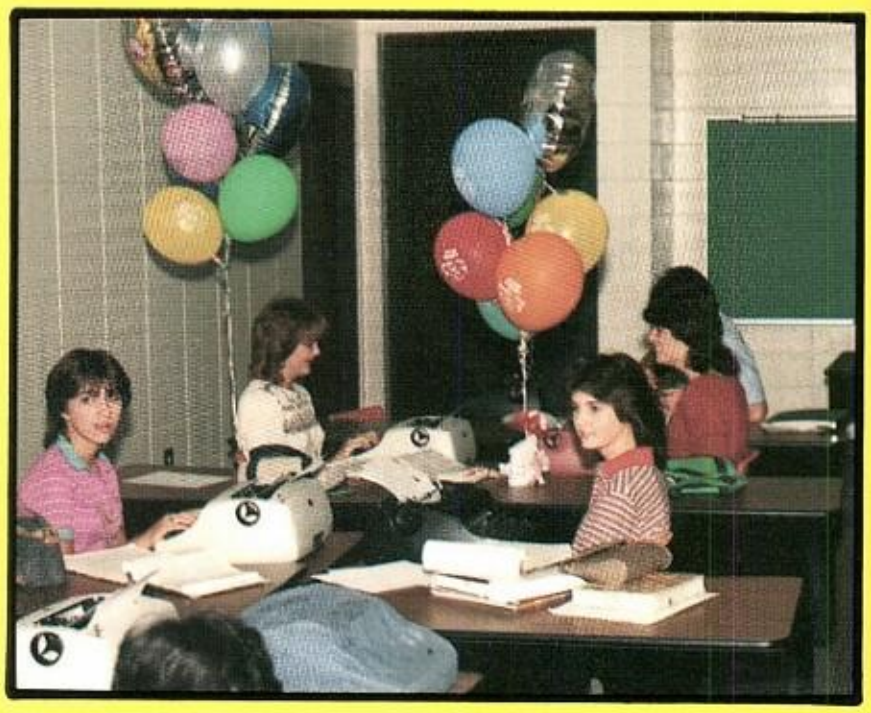


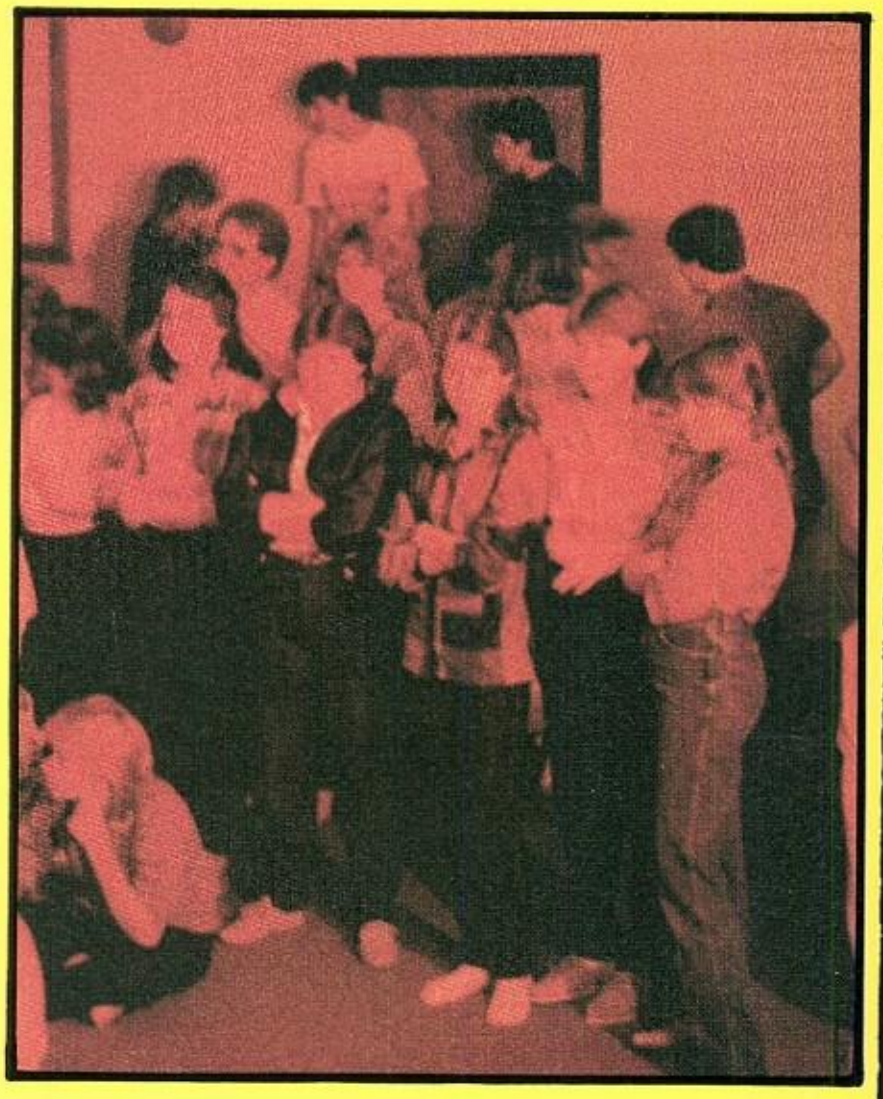




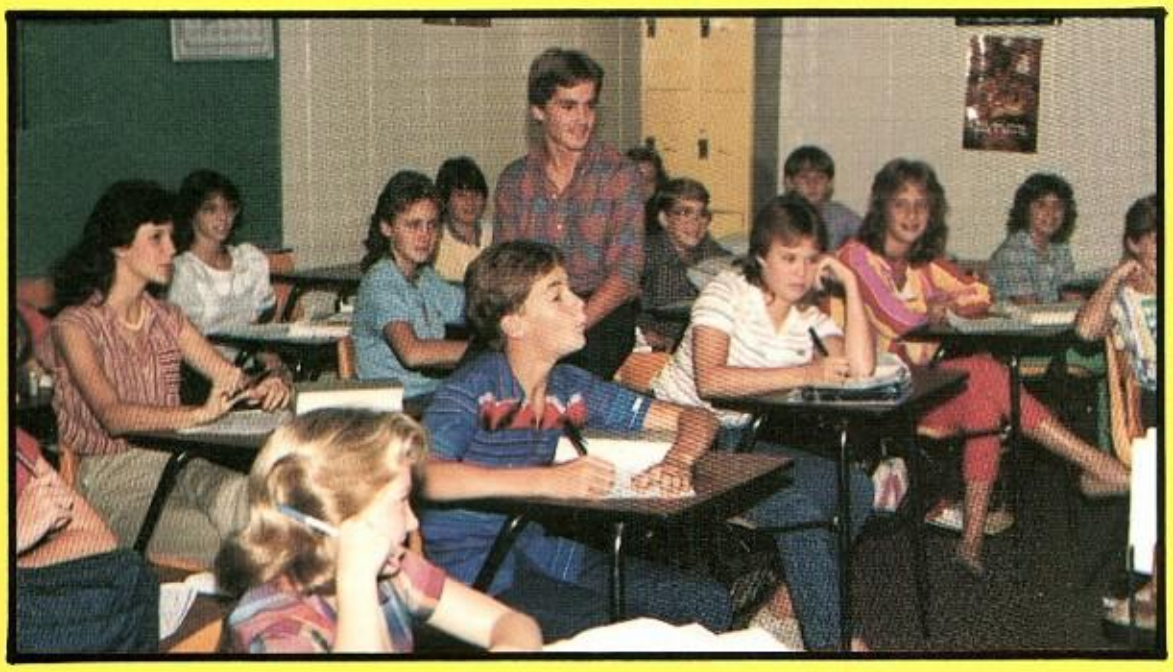
Our school may be small, but we have a vast array of different personalities and lifestyles.

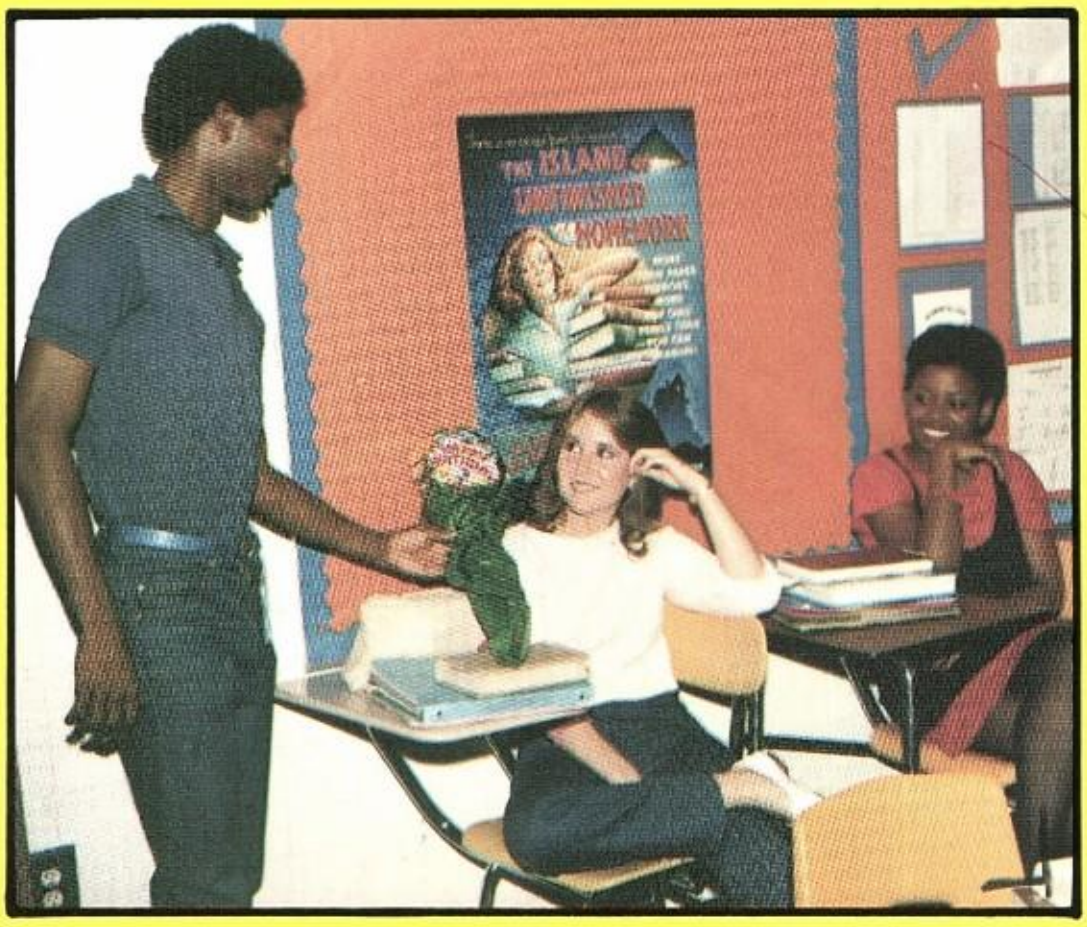


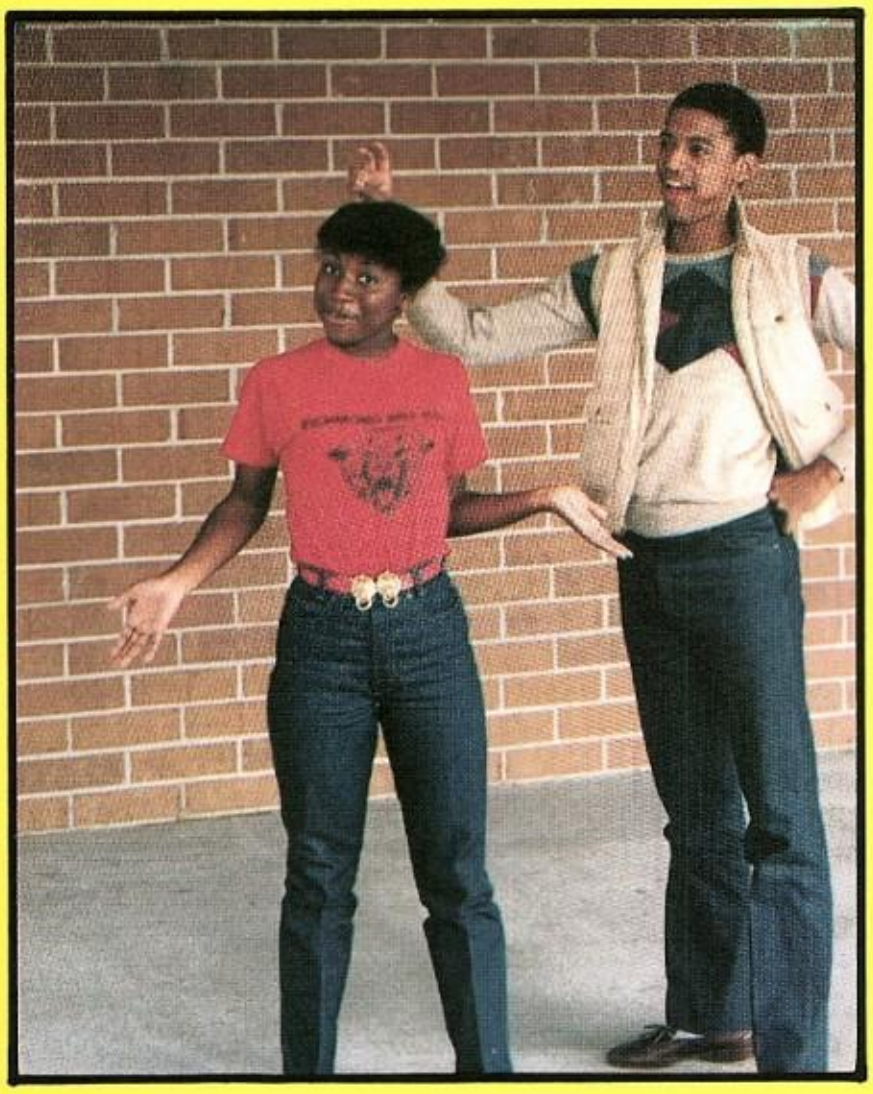


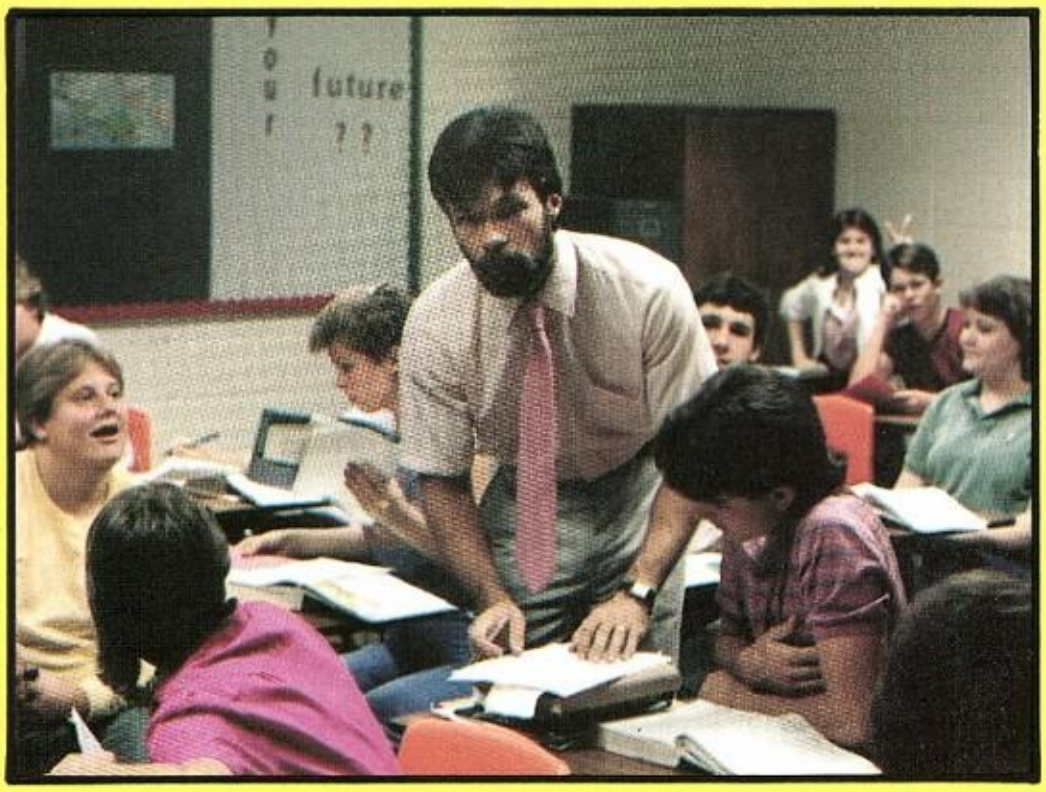


Each individual adds his own unique qualities. This uniqueness has produced a school that we are proud to say is ours.

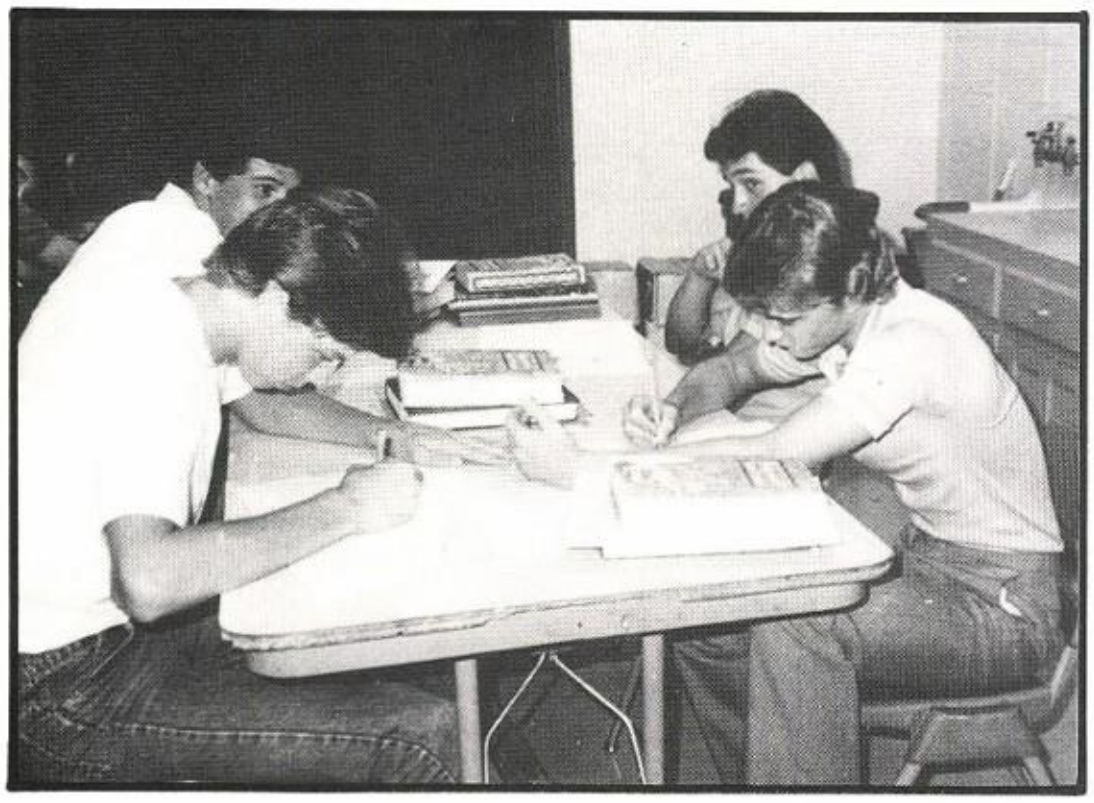


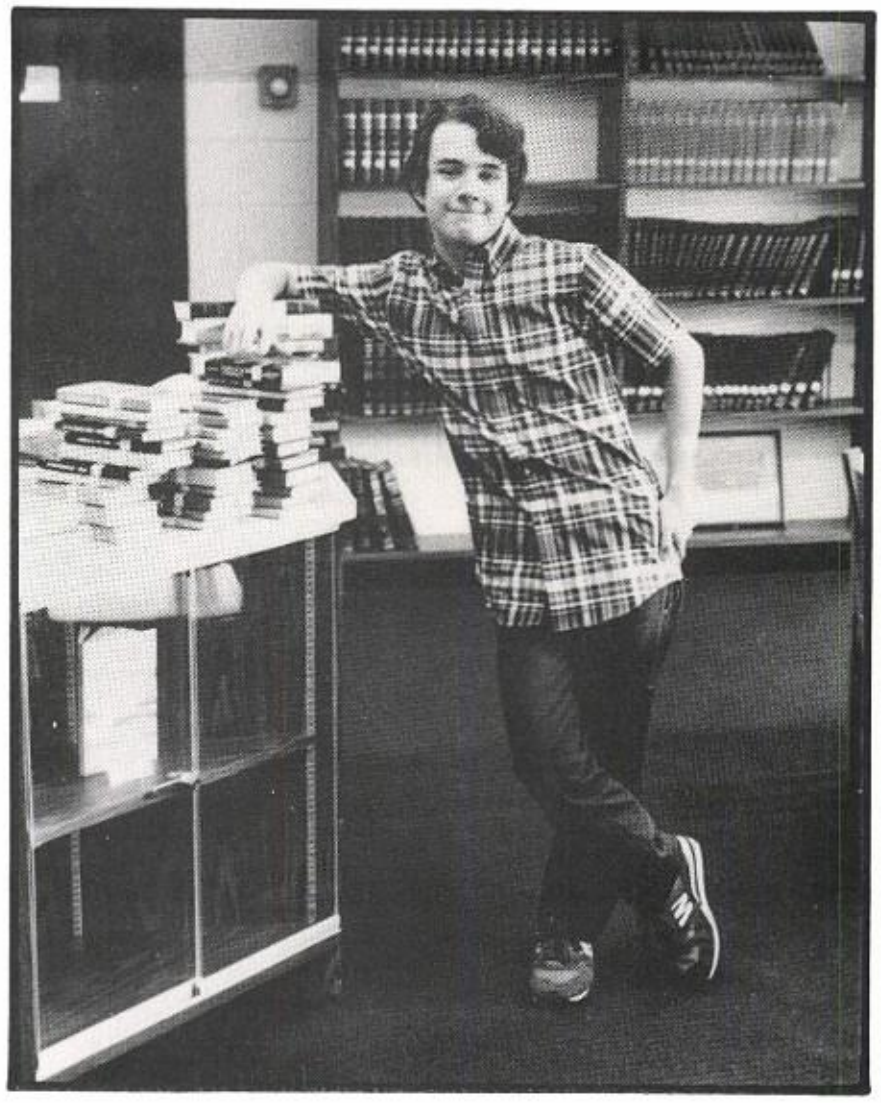




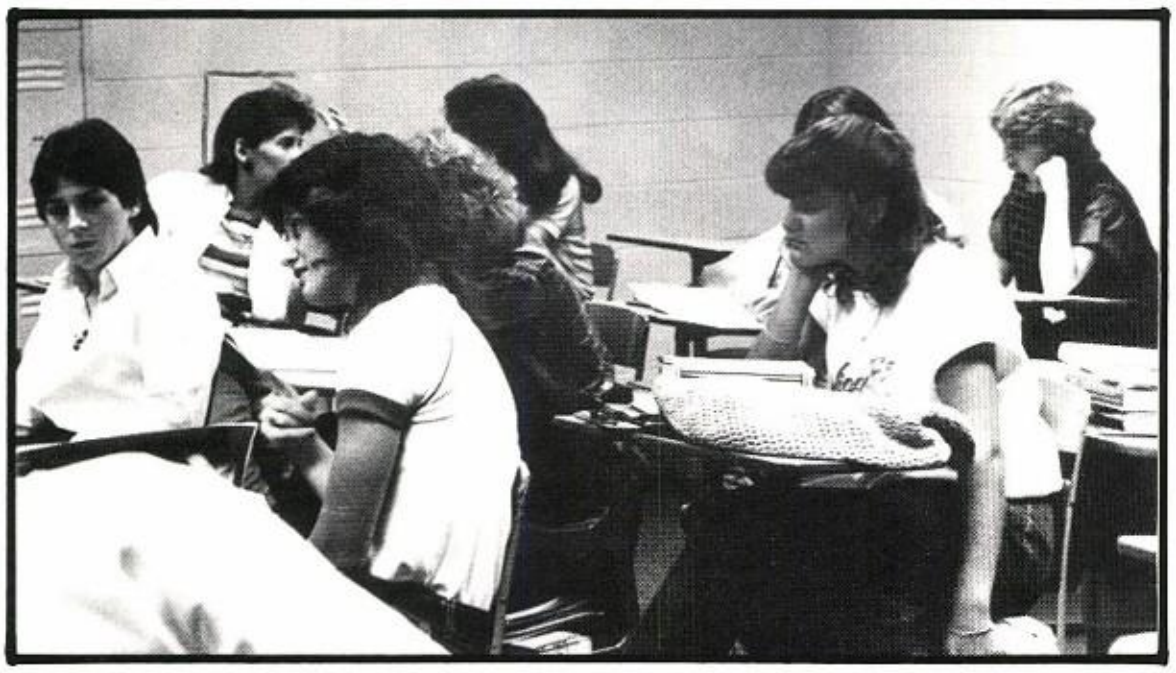


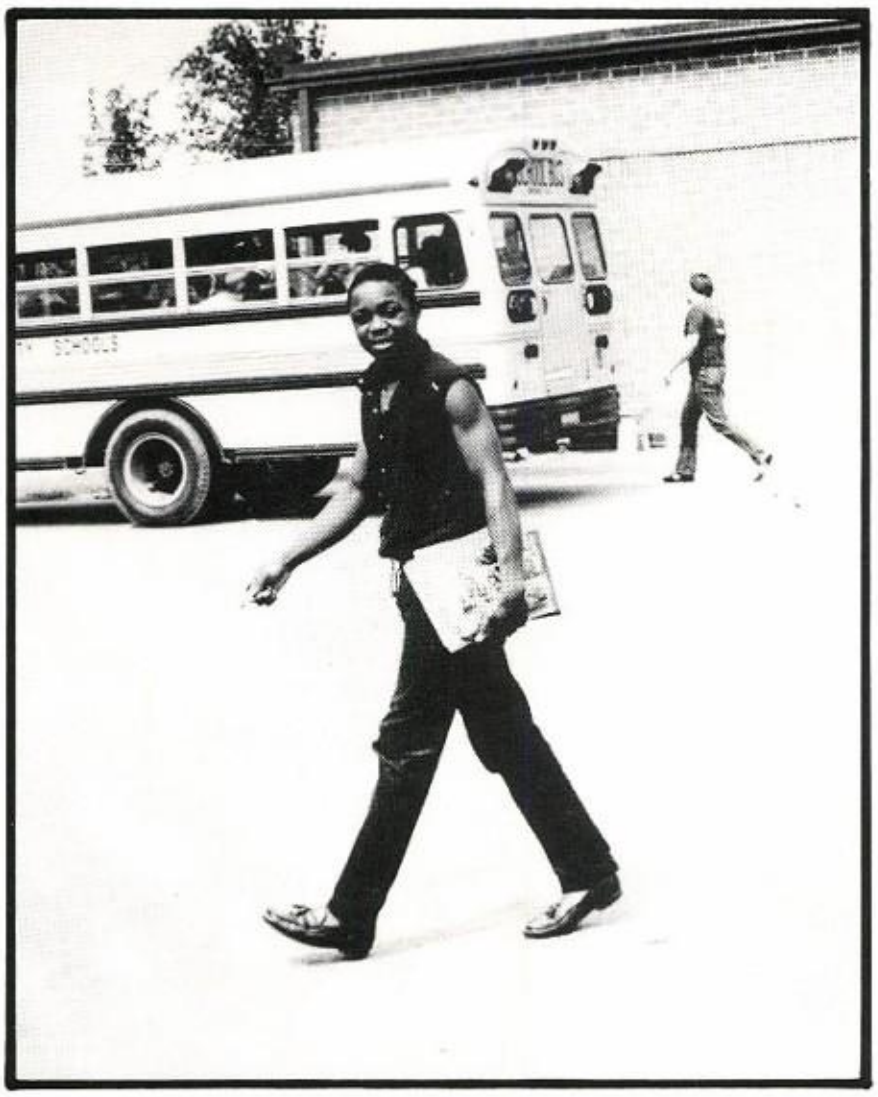
Our enrollment is increasing daily. Our evergrowing population proves that we have what people are looking for.

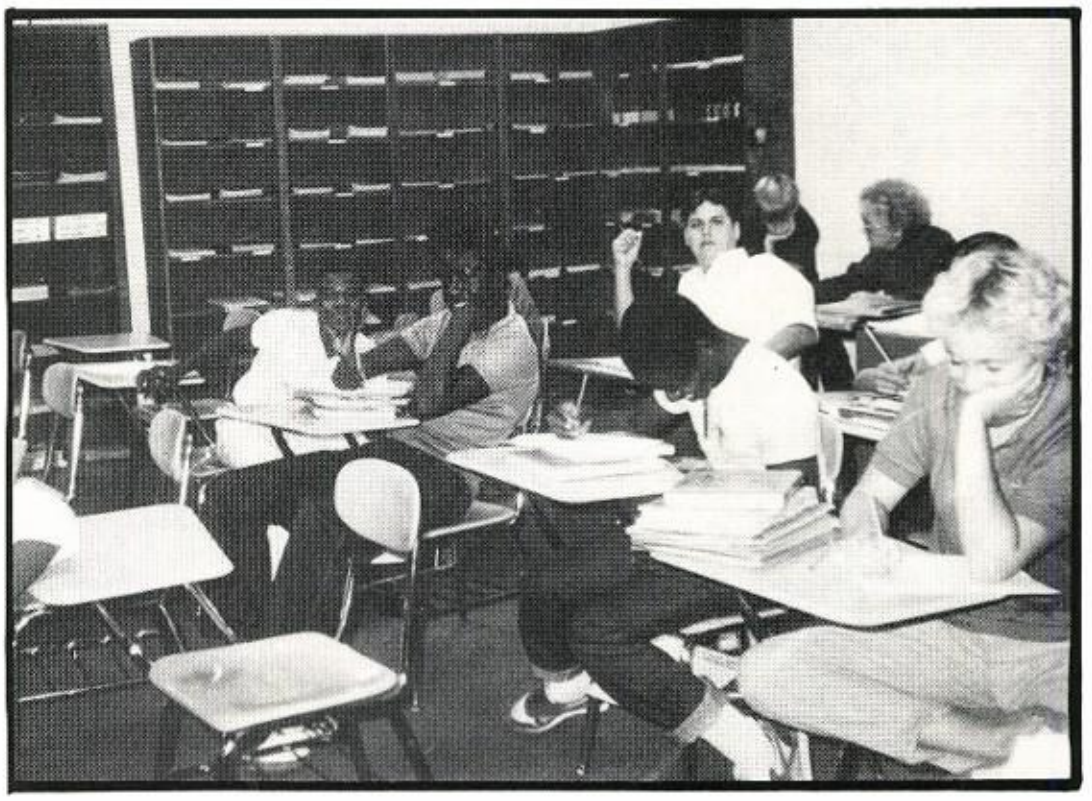




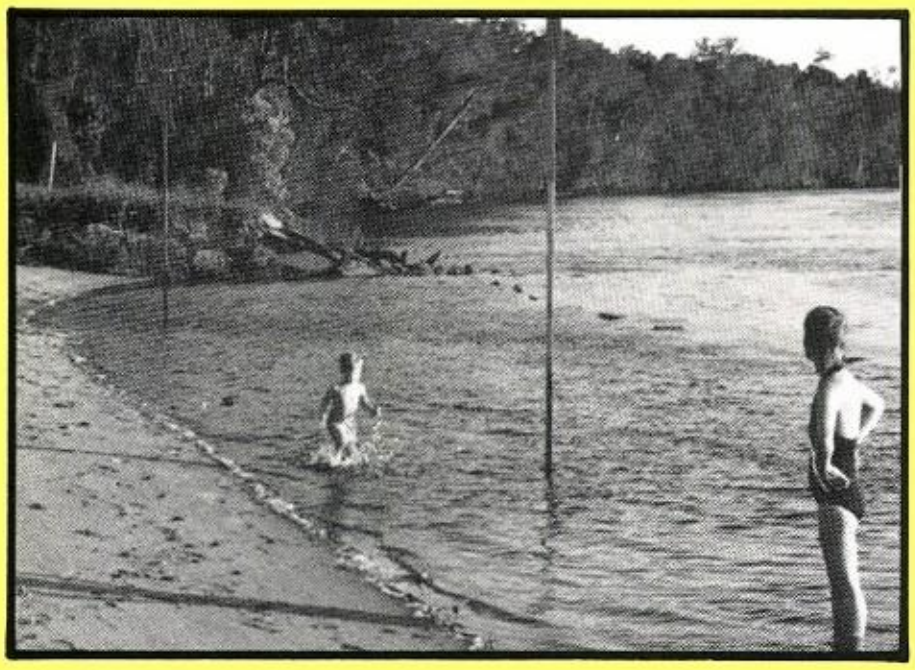
There is no doubt about it - WE'VE GOT IT!

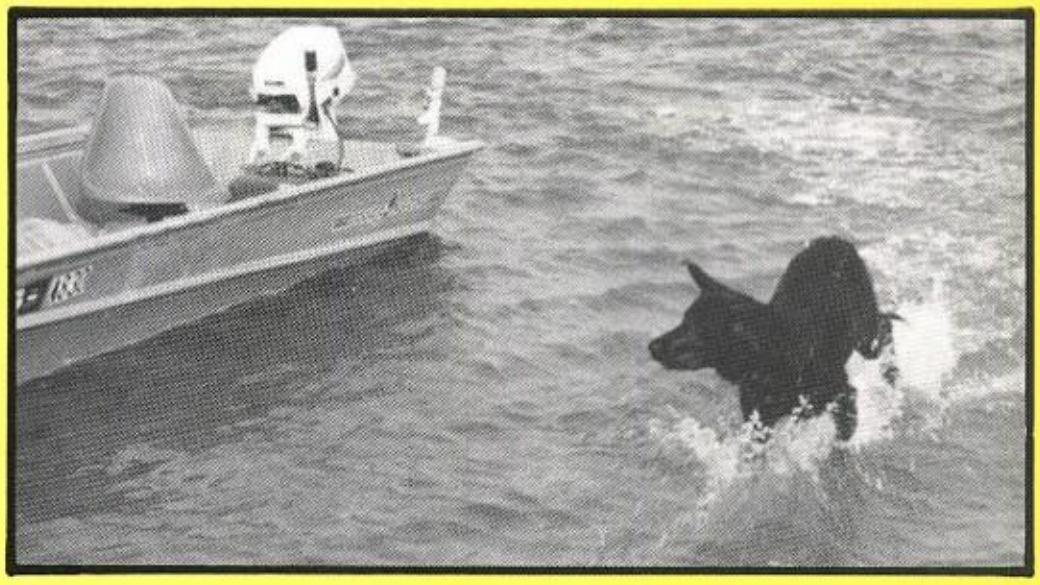






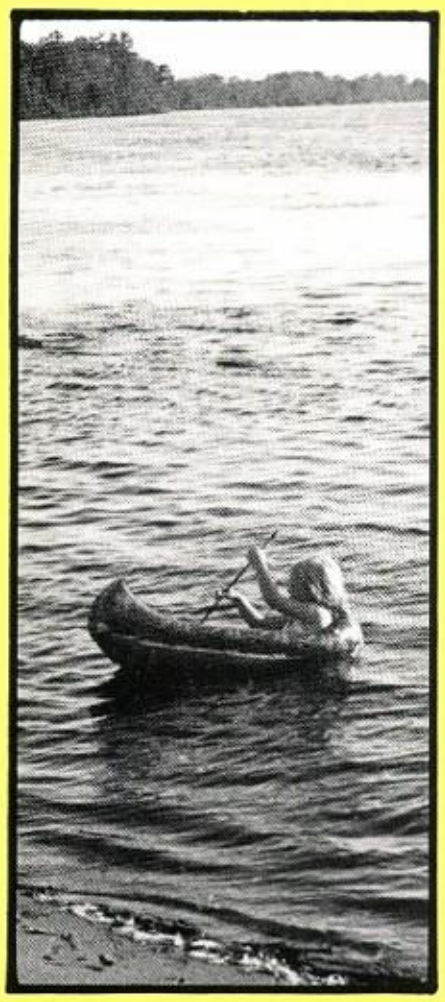
Farewell . . .





to Summer

Every year students must come to school to learn about the three R's. The only bad thing is that students might as well forget about the three S's - sun, sleep, and soap operas. Summer is almost everyone's favorite time of year. There are pleasures of life to enjoy unique to the season: water sports, many new friends, and sleeping late. (Of course, SOME of us have to work.) It is never easy to say farewell to summer, but school isn't usually quite as bad as people expect it to be. Besides, next summer isn't that far away anyway - especially if you're a SENIOR!

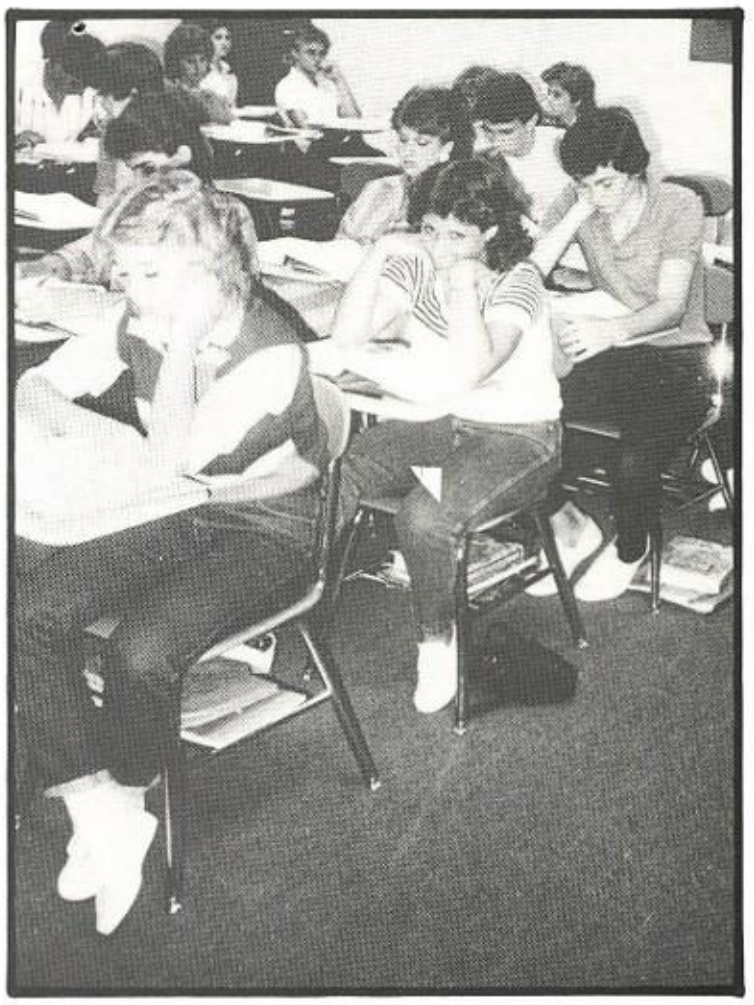


And It's . . .

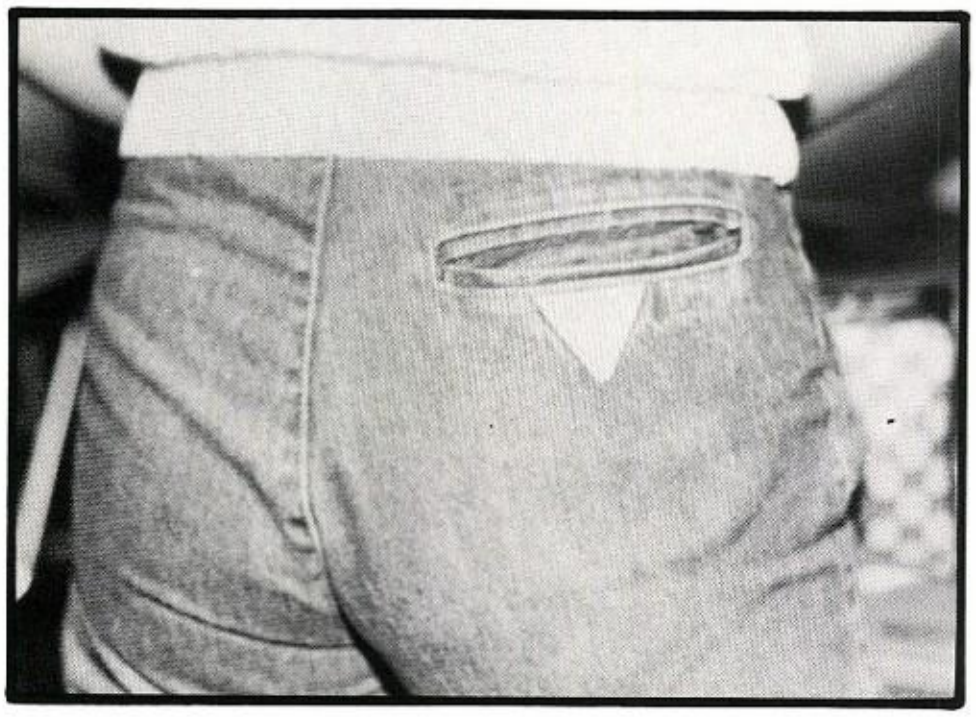
Back to School!

Summer is over and it's back to the grindstone for students and teachers. Kids with brand - spanking new notebooks full of hundreds of sheets of fresh white paper are running frantically to and fro. Teachers, trying to get everything organized and classes started, are up to their elbows in mounds of paperwork.

The new clothes, hair styles, and (last but not least) faces are all a part of the first-of-the-year scene. However, as the first week melts into the second and everyone becomes accustomed to the routine, students take on the appearance and mannerisms of a veteran Wildcat.

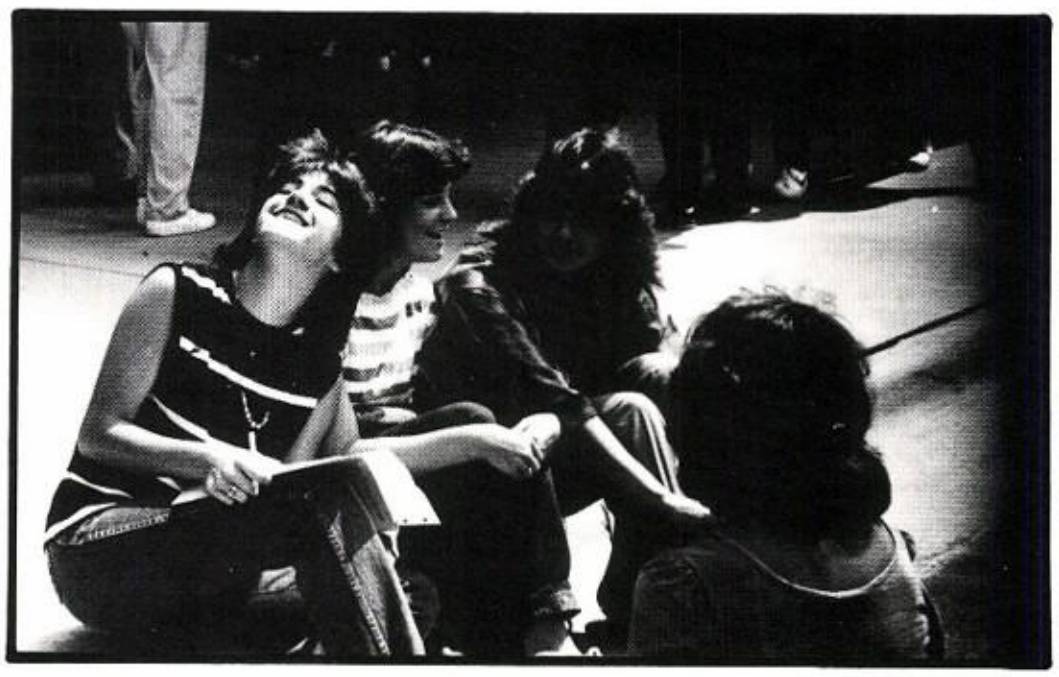


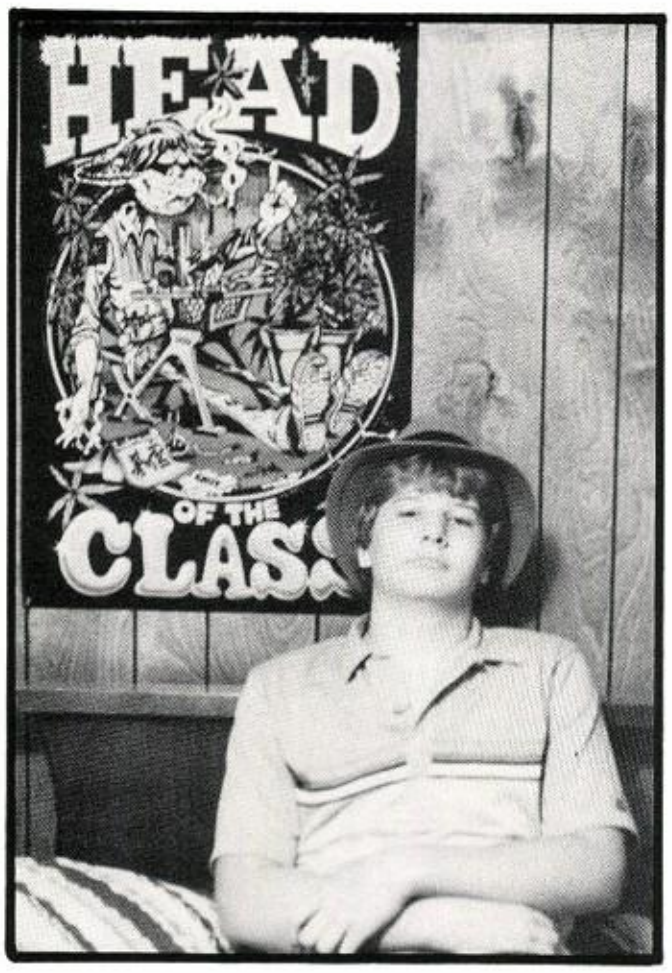
We've Got . . .

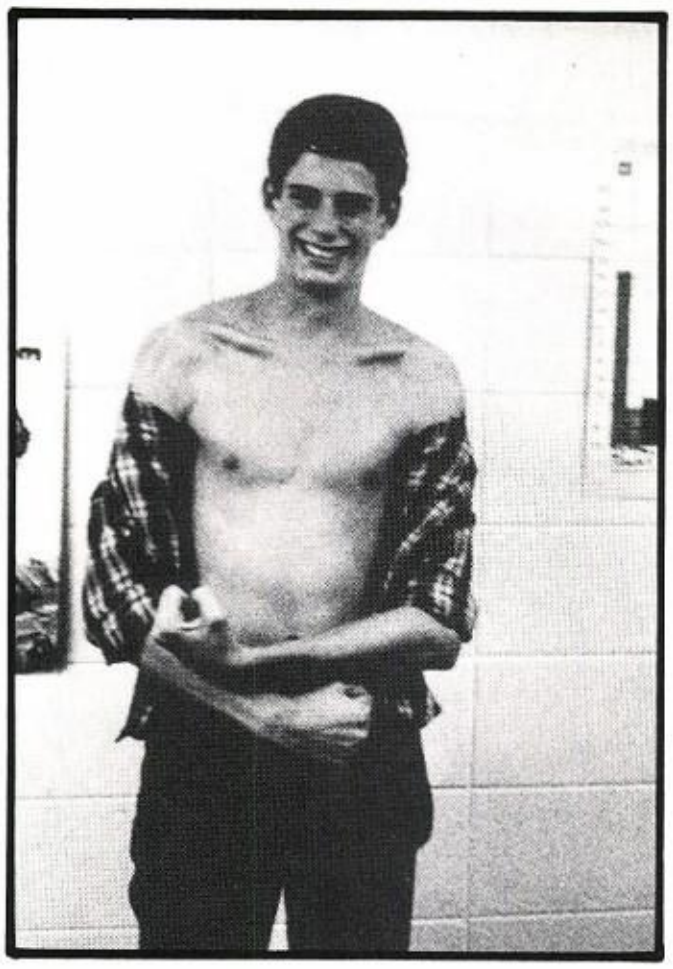


Personality!

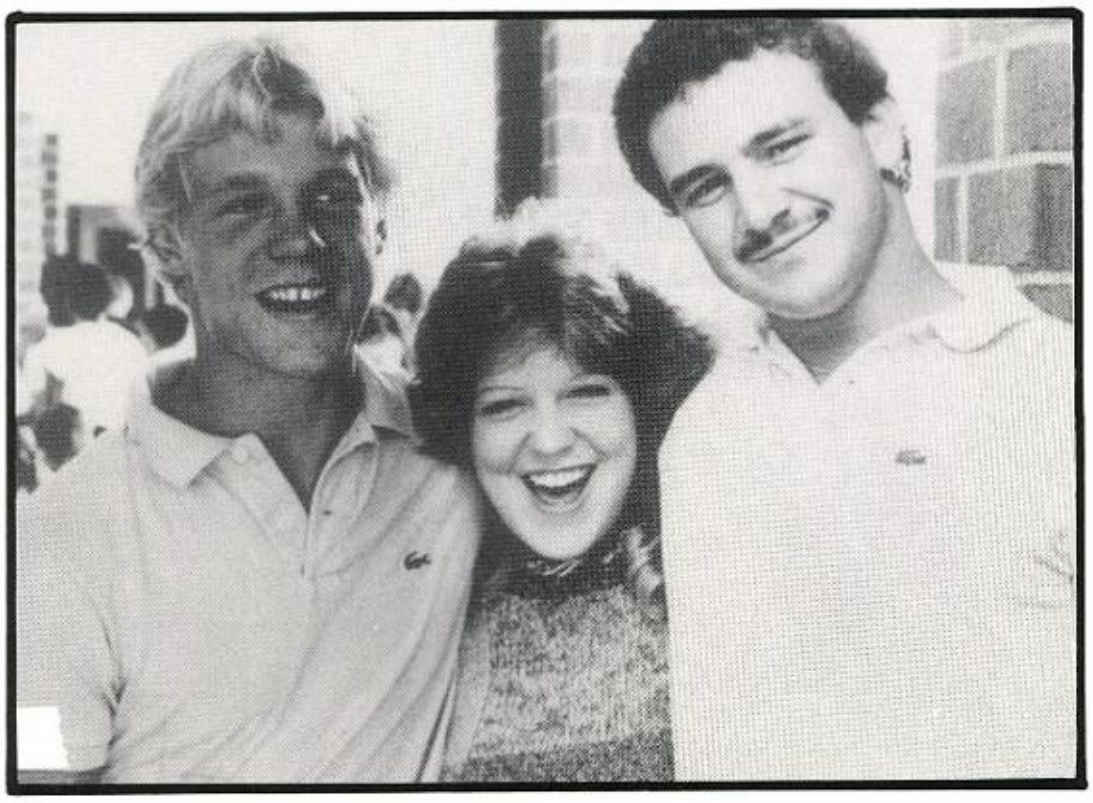
R.H.H.S. sports a variety of different and unique personalities. Depending on your direction of travel, you may be startled by your encounters. Don't be afraid if you see a rather thin lad flexing his "semi-muscular" chest. It's only Bubba flaunting what he's got (or doesn't have). While Bubba is busy displaying his physique, Lamar is busy displaying another part of his anatomy. You guessed it - his legs! During all these escapades, you can find Keith "Boo-Boo" Sisco just bummin' around. Simply, wherever you go, you will find that Wildcats have PERSONALITIES.

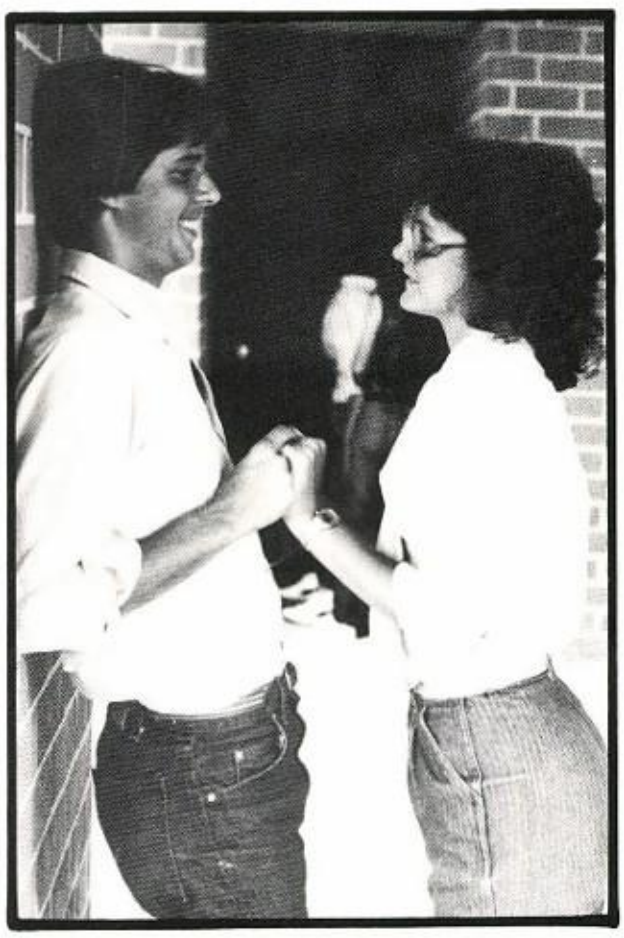


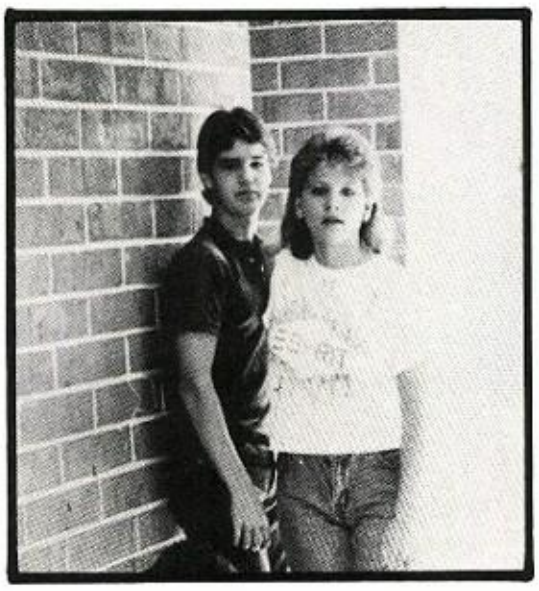




We've Got . . .







Friendship!

What will we remember most when we finally leave high school? Teachers? Wrong! Algebra? Be SERIOUS! There's only one answer - friends (and all of us have made some friends that are simply unforgettable). You met them, learned to divide fractions together, wrote term papers together (that will bond people for life !), and managed to grow up a little somehow. And there were the little things: like those spend-the-night parties, that day you dressed alike, that first day back to school when you were dying to see each other, those crazy dances, and even that time you all skipped school (and all got in trouble). But friendship is part of what school is all about anyway, isn't it?

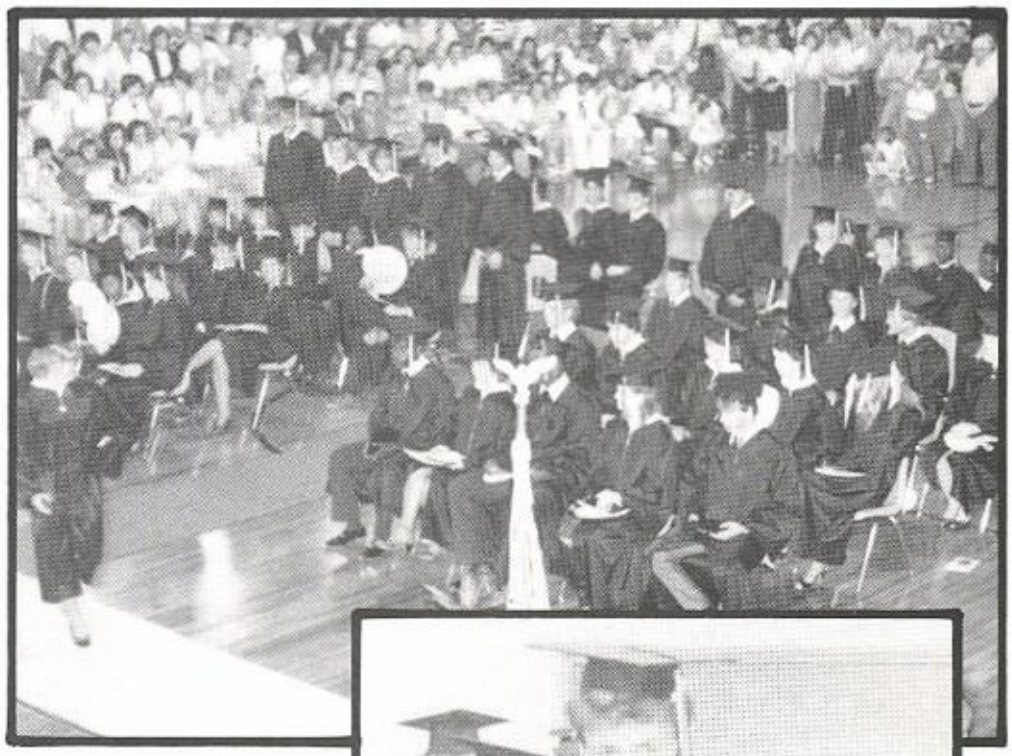
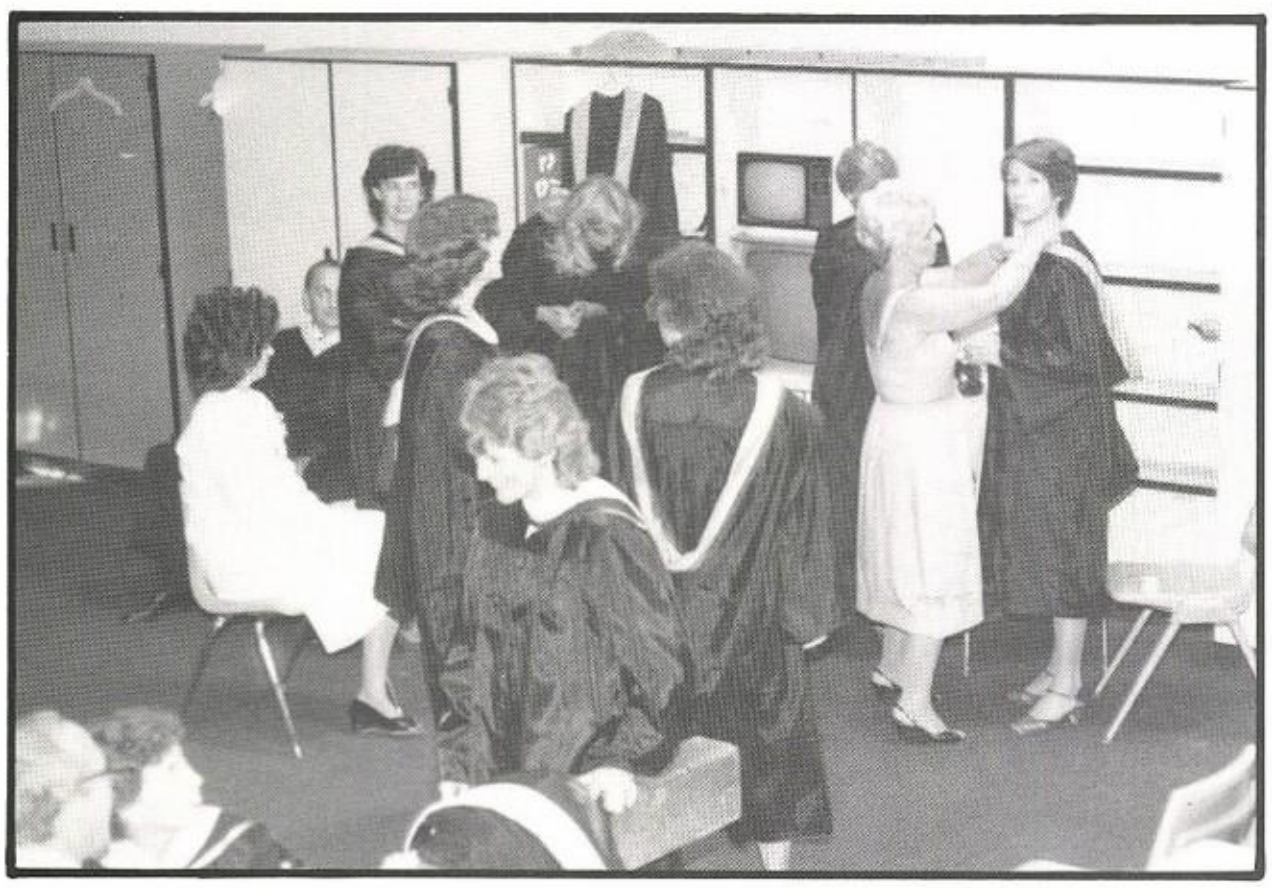
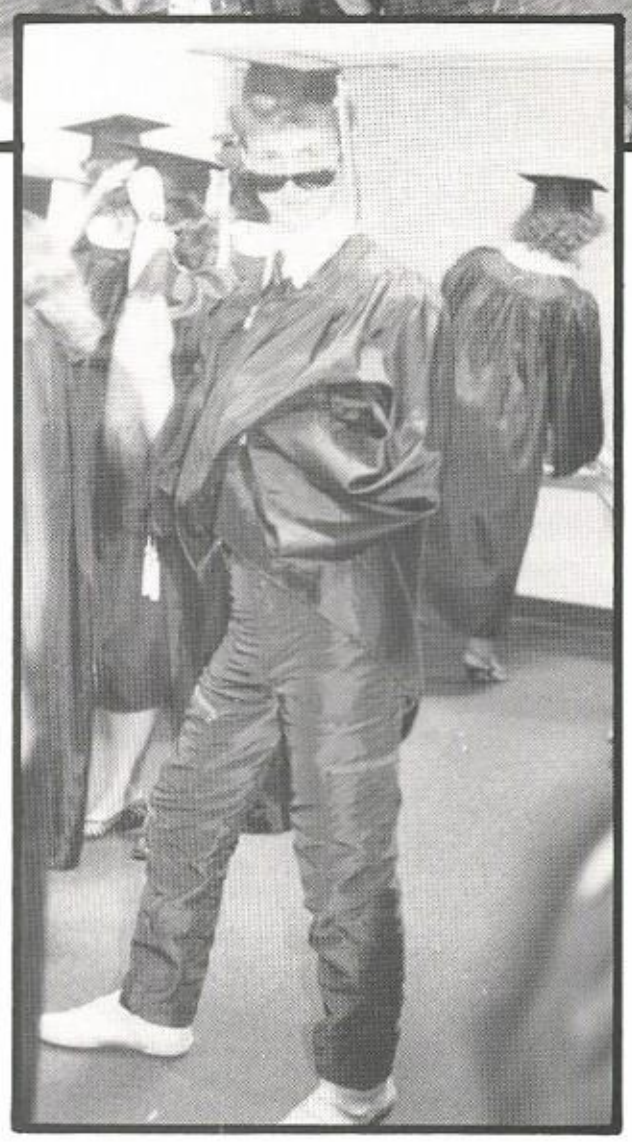
Graduates!

Receiving a high school diploma is always something to be proud of. It symbolizes twelve years of cooperation, tolerance, learning, and (of course) partying. Last year's seniors gathered for the last time on June 4, 1984. Plentiful teary goodbyes were evident, but an overall sense of accomplishment, excitement, and optimism prevailed. Last year was even more special than usual because R.H.H.S. had a record number of graduates (54 to be exact) led by class Valedictorian Zandy Gill and Salutatorian James Turner. Class officers were Jill Crosby, Steve Harn, Barbara Galbreth, and Nelson Chapman. Ceremonies were held in the Richmond Hill Elementary School gym.



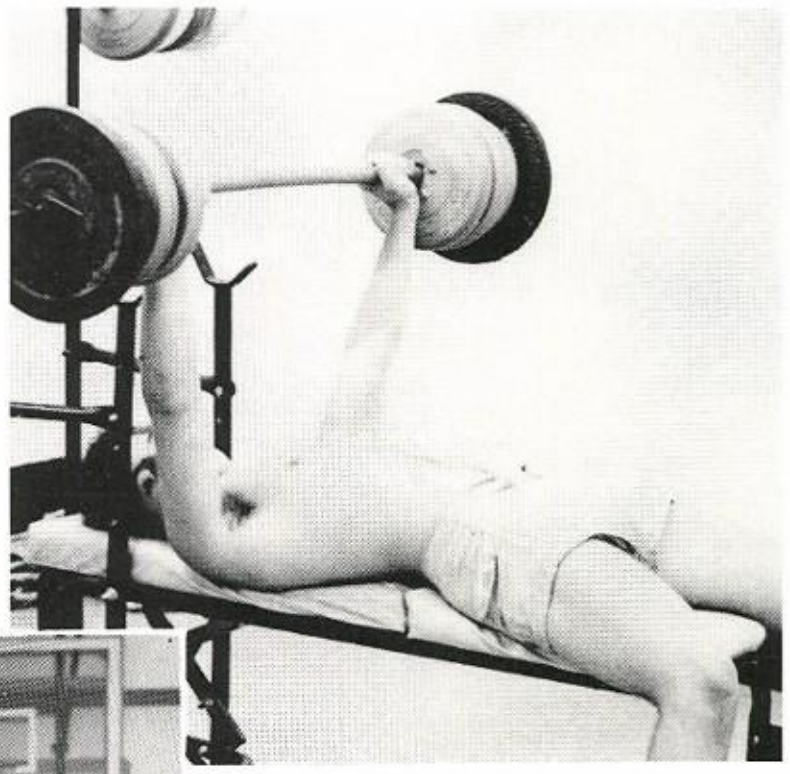




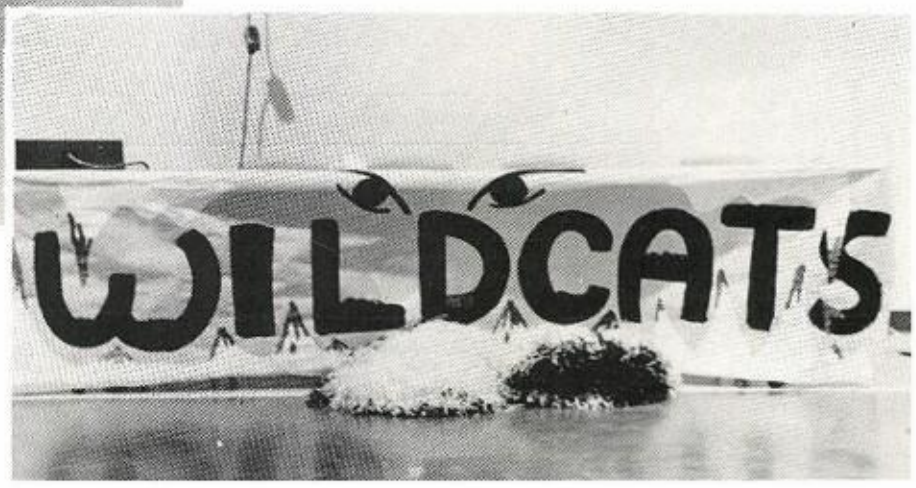
We've Got . . .

Goals!

Sports at RHHS is a subject that is not taken lightly. Under the advice and supervision of coaches John Rahn and Jimmy Hiers, the Richmond Hill Wildcat's track, softball, baseball, and basketball teams displayed Wildcat courage stamina and excellence against their opposition. Competing against teams from around the Southeast, the 'Cats' teams procured scores that were unbeatable for the opposition.



According to Coaches Rahn and Hiers, the Wildcats' success was due to long hours of strenuous exercise and countless executions of standard drills during practice. The boys' varsity basketball team dominated the scene; however, look inside for the whole story.



Richmond Hill Goes

Instructed by Coach John Rahn, the Wildcats' 1983-84 track team encountered obstacles that were just too large to overcome. Composed of six students, Michael Clark, Lamar Davis, Tony Bennett, Dough Haymans, Ricky Waters, and Jeff Richbourg, the team managed to turn in some statistics that proved they had potential. Doug Haymans threw the shot put 35'2". Michael Clark, the only senior, leaped for 23'2" in the broad jump. He also ran the 220 and the 100 yard dash. Lamar was close behind with a distance of 22'10". He also entered the triple jump. Not far down the track, Jeff and Tony were running the mile and two mile races. Running the mile, Jeff finished with a time of 6 minutes and 15 seconds, while Tony followed along with a time of 6 minutes and 22 seconds. The star was no doubt Ricky. He hurled himself 9' in the pole vaulting competition to place third in the region. Keep practicing 'Cats - you're almost there.

Wildcats Hit It

After facing stiff competition, the boys' baseball team managed to end the season with an 8-8 record. The 'Cats, led by Coach Jimmy Hiers, were a young team with only one senior. Despite all the difficulties the boys faced, Coach Hiers said that he was well pleased.

The boys' hitting attack was led by Kyle Christiansen who had an average of 450. Left fielder Greg Blocker was named Most Improved Player. Kevin Henderson, pitcher, was awarded the Most Valuable Player trophy.

Lady Wildcats' Softball Team

Even though they lost quite a few players, this year's girls' softball team vastly improved the disastrous record from last season. They were made to endure long tiring hours of practice and coaching, but the players were glad to finish up the season with a respectable record of five wins and six losses. Overall, the Wildcats came in fourth place in our region.

Erica Groover led the team with the most doubles, triples, homeruns, and overall hits. Michelle Ruiz hit the most singles and the second most overall hits. Monica Messorio, Pam Finley, and Heather Gill were also valuable players.

Young Wildcats

Though a young team, this year's Richmond Hill junior varsity managed to have a successful season. With Keith Mikell, Phil Clark, and Theodore Scriven leading the rest of the pack, the B-Team 'Cats defeated teams such as Long County and Bryan County. Coach Jimmy Hiers is expecting this up-coming team to mature into an invincible basketball machine during their varsity years. Although most of this year's JV players will play on the varsity team next year, there are some who will still be on the team to show the rookie Wildcats what the game is all about.

This year, homecoming week at RHHS was a sight to behold! January 7-11 was a combination of fun, excitement, and craziness as the students at RHHS prepared for the coming ballgames and celebration. The school days were boosted by the annual "dress up" event, highlighted by Punk Day, Kiddie Day, Georgia Bulldog Day, Hat Day (everybody's favorite), and Black and Gold Day - the "Day of the Wildcat."

When Friday rolled around, it was evident that the "Time" was right for the cheerleaders to host a rousing pep-rally to the beat of "Jungle Love." Much to the dismay of the Senior Class, the juniors recaptured the spirit stick, showing everyone who was "Boss."

That evening, the Lady Wildcats strutted their stuff, sweeping Glennville with a score of 50-34. The boy's varsity team was also red-hot. By halftime, they had captured the lead, throwing a special glow over the homecoming activities. The event all had waited for - the crowning of the Homecoming Queen - had finally arrived. Tony Solomon, president of the Student Council, had the pleasure of crowning Alex Lyons, escorted by Russ Carpenter, queen of the Homecoming Court. The other members of the court included Michelle Ruiz, escorted by Robbie Lee; Erica Groover, escorted by Jody Owens; Alison Orne, escorted by Mark Gerald; and Ashley Ward escorted by Andy Darling. When the game resumed, the 'Cats wound it up by defeating Glennville 57-50.

The celebration continued in the RHHS multipurpose room where the traditional homecoming dance was held. Music by I-95 provided the atmosphere for a few hours of dancing and enjoyment, officially ending with the magic of midnight.

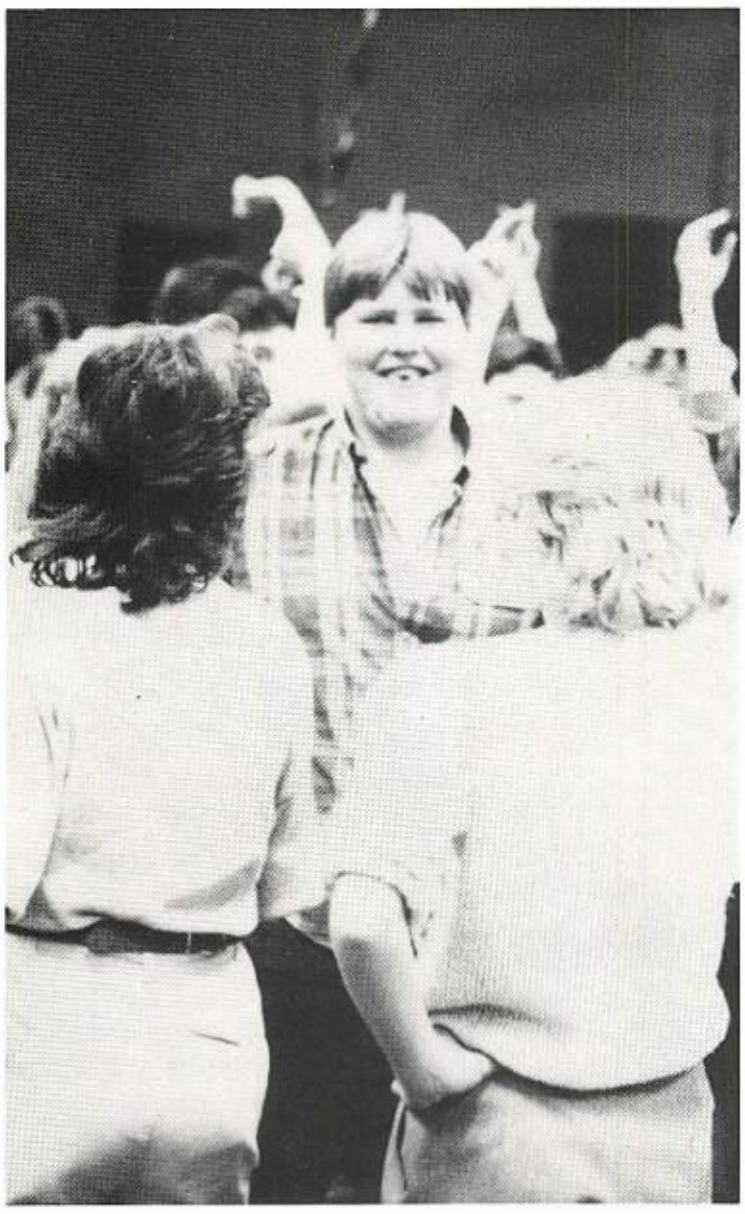
Homecoming and Spirit Week Highlights



We've Got . . . Spirit!

Ranging from five to fifteen members, the clubs at RHHS definitely have one outstanding factor. They all contain students who want to be more involved in and better educated about the world surrounding them. These students have high standards, with the will to achieve and the ability to make it work. And when these students put it all together, it's truly amazing to see. For example, the newspaper staff encourages students to learn responsibility and grammatical correctness in their writing. Literary Club members relay their feelings to others through competing in oral interpretation, essay, speech, and other activities.

In each club at RHHS, one finds this quality of excellence reflected in its members, its performance, and above all, its achievements. So take a look at the people who sponsored events that made the school year more enjoyable for all.

Homemakers Are People, Too!

FHA

This year, the Future Homemakers of America were an extremely active club. Opening their busy schedule with the annual installation dinner, the club then proceeded to celebrate National FHA week and Career Day. In conjunction with FBLA, the club also promoted a blood drive and held a Vocational Appreciation Banquet. The members, advised by Mrs. Millie Morris, sold over 400 cookbooks. The proceeds were donated to the state FHA/FBLA camp and to various Home Economics scholarship funds. As reflected in the words of club president Lydia Blackledge, this year was "TERRIFIC!"

FBLA: Improving Our Future Business

FBLA

The FBLA certainly had a full schedule this year! Club members and advisor Barbara Haddock spent many hours organizing the second annual "Miss Winter Star Pageant," which was a huge success for both the club and the community. Members also spent weeks preparing for business competition and won awards in public speaking and computer design and programming. The FBLA, in conjunction with the Future Homemakers of America, also sponsored a blood drive and a dinner banquet.

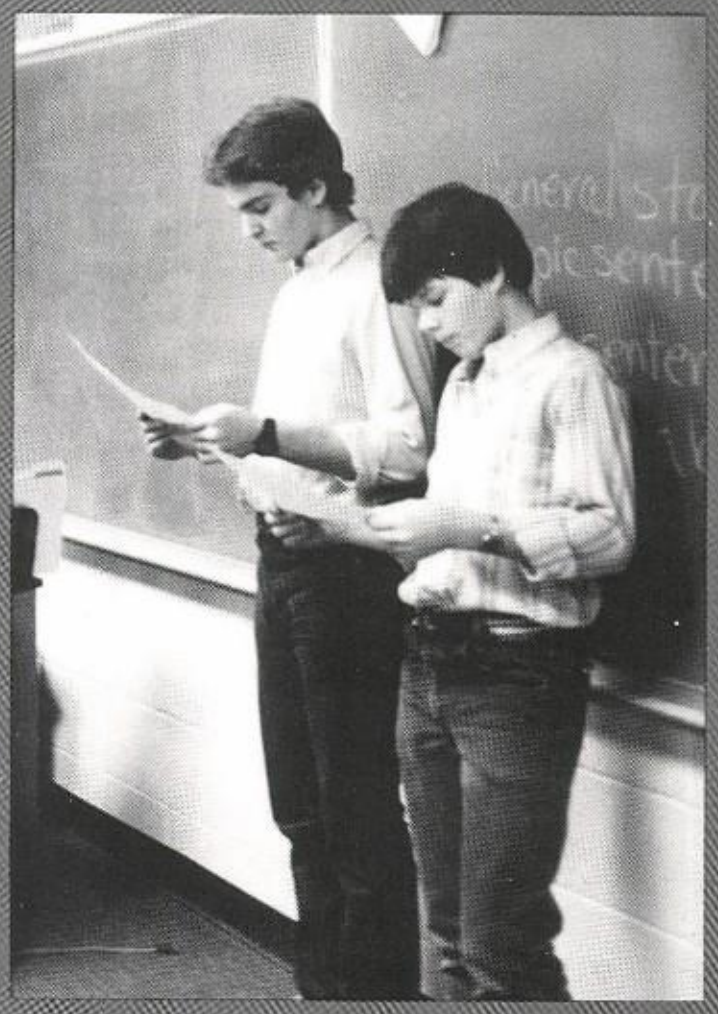
Generous Junior Beta Always Helps School



Junior Beta

This year's Junior Beta Club was true to form as they became involved in numerous activities. The club members formed the lunchroom's Youth Advisory Council (YAC) and placed flowers on the tables during National Lunch Week. Also, the members decorated the lunchroom bulletin board. As money-raising projects, the club sold posters and Wildcat paw pins. The profits went toward a color television and a video recorder for the school. All members agreed this year's club was a tremendous success and are already planning next year's activities.

Senior Beta

Industrial Arts

Though the Industrial Arts Club had fewer members this year, the students that did participate displayed pride and determination. Looking forward to the annual Industrial Arts Convention that is held in March in Atlanta, the students spend long hours preparing for such projects as speech, the Metric 500 Car, and designing a dream home. The members, under the supervision of Mr. Kincaid, plan to finance the trip through the sale of doughnuts.

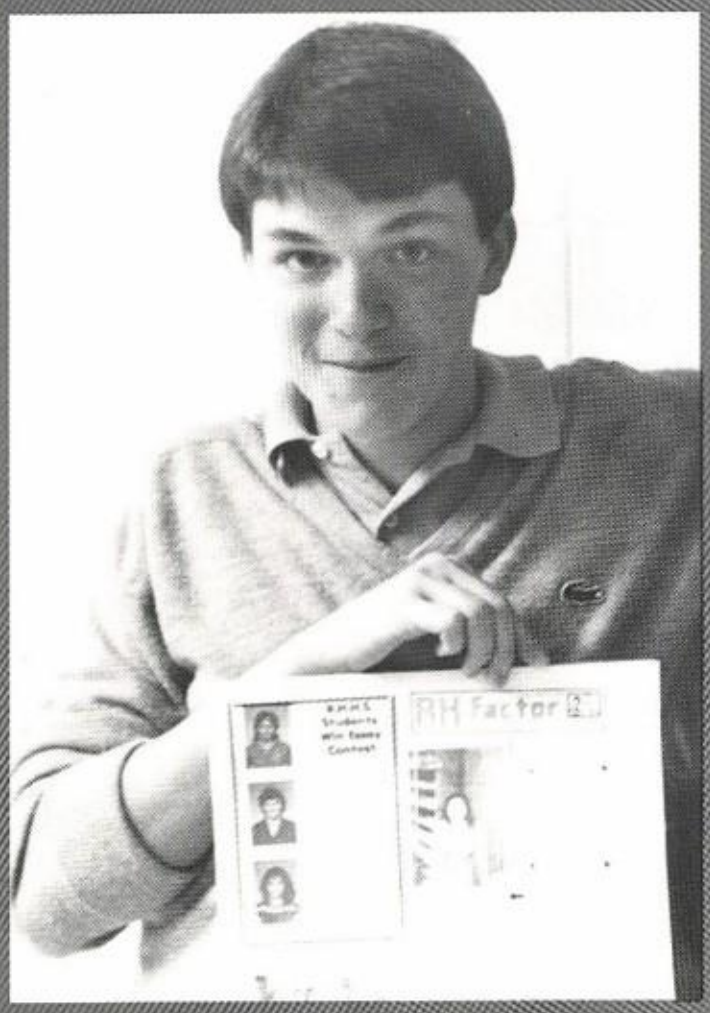
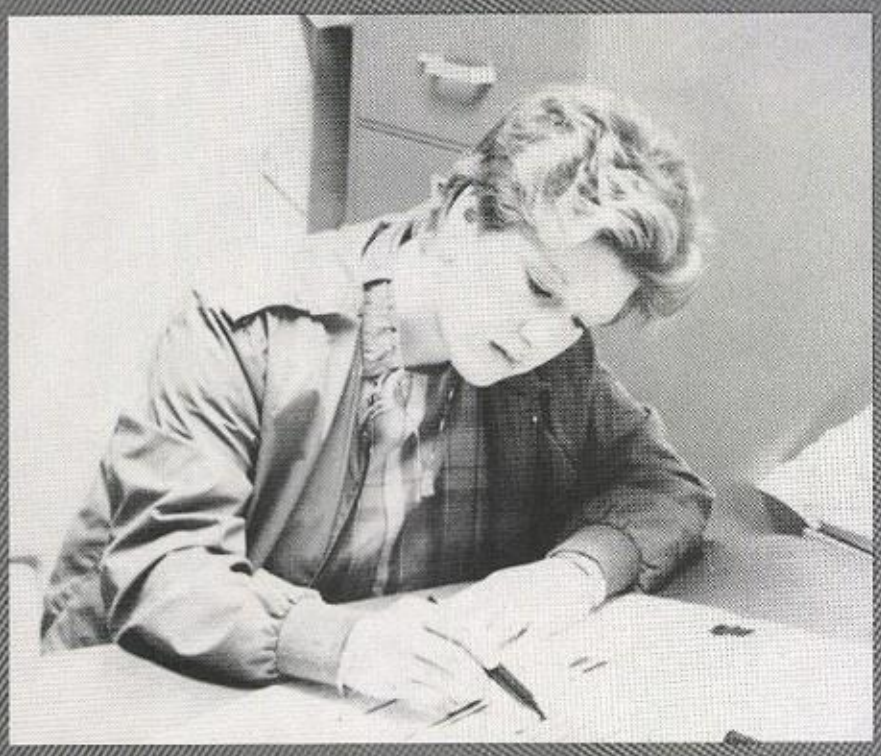
A Small Paper That Still Believes in News





R.H. Factor

The RH Factor newspaper has made several improvements this year. The RH Factor is now being printed in standard newspaper size editions. The cost has been lowered to twenty-five cents for each of the three issues. The newspaper was financed through increased ad sales and a successful fund-raising project. The fund-raising project consisted of sales from a family shopper catalog.

Cloverleafs Stand Out

Junior 4-H

Under the supervision of Ms. Diane Moore, County Extension Agent, the RHHS Junior 4-Hers had a fun and exciting year as they learned in a new and totally different way. Each month, the 4-Hers met to discuss the proper techniques of speech writing. They gradually grew from delivering a two-minute written speech to being able to give a five-minute oral presentation. This practice should help the 4-Hers during later competitions.

Several of the club members competed in land judging; thirteen attended District Project Achievement at Rock Eagle. The 4-Hers had a great year and plan for next year to be even better.

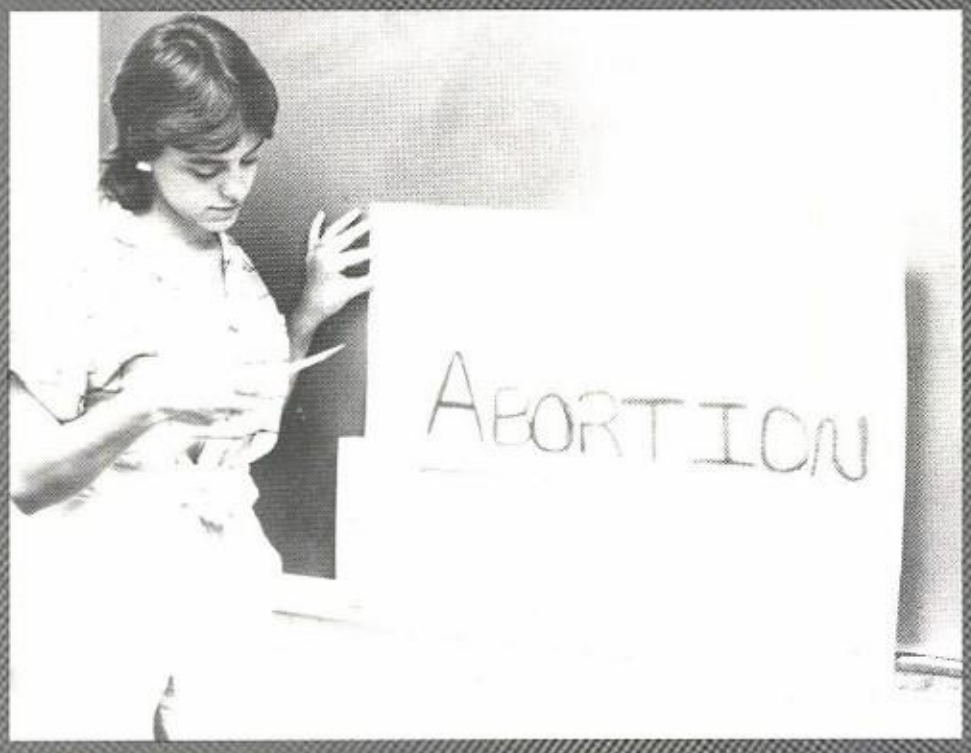
Senior 4-H Exhibits Real Potential



Senior 4-H

RHHS senior 4-Hers proved that they have what it takes as they completed one of the best years in their club historyto date. The club members concentrated on community service activities which included distributing cupcakes to residents at the senior citizen's center, collecting a box of canned goods for the needy, and presenting candy canes to teachers at Christmas. The seniors also worked all year long to get ready for upcoming district competition. Last summer, Richmond Hill had two 4-Hers, Lydia Blackledge and Doug Haymans, to win at District. They continued to state level competitions. Doug was chosen to attend national competitions in Chicago - a first for Bryan County! The 4-Hers relaxed by going to the movies and attended several 4-H rallies. All in all, Richmond Hill High School Senior 4-Hers had a terrific year and are eagerly looking forward to the year to come.

Science for the Non-Scientist

This year's Science Club is attempting a project that no other club has tried. Sponsoring their yearly Halloween dance to finance the project, the club is going to pay for the wiring of cable into the academic rooms in the new wing. Mrs. Hanson, the club advisor, said that the club's other activities included the annual science fair, which was a "grand" success. The Club also set aside one day each month to give each member of the faculty a bright red apple. The members are calling it none other than "apple day."

Student Council Raises More Than the Flag

Student Council

At Richmond Hill High School, the Student Council, led by Mr. Van Estes, is traditionally the host of our special Homecoming Events. This year, Tony Solomon (president) crowned Alex Lyons Homecoming Queen, spurring the Wildcat's team to a smashing win. Afterwards, an especially terrific victory dance was held. The council was also responsible for raising and lowering the school's flag each day; on National Education week, they showed their "teacher appreciation" by awarding each teacher with a shiny red apple. This year's Student Council definitely well represented our stuent body, and the group will continue the good work in the year to come.

Literary: the Ladder of Achievement

Literary

The Literary Club exists mainly to prepare and send students representing our school to compete in literary events in areas such as debate, oral interpretation, spelling, essay, trio, and piano. To raise funds this year, the club had planned to sponsor a Valentine's Dance for grades 7-9. Club sponsor Mrs. Anne Donnelly, along with club members, was greatly disappointed, but they are looking forward to planning other events.

We've Got Honors!

Though RHHS is relatively small, its members boast a great variety of talents and characteristics. In our school can be found everything from a star student to a Winter Star Queen to an Outstanding Senior. Among the features possessed by many of our students (and faculty, too) are wit, wisdom, beauty, popularity, and even generosity. We often flaunt these talents to larger schools, for we feel that we are unique, and our pride in our achievements makes us truly great. But don't take our word for it - let the trophy display at the school's entrance tells the story.

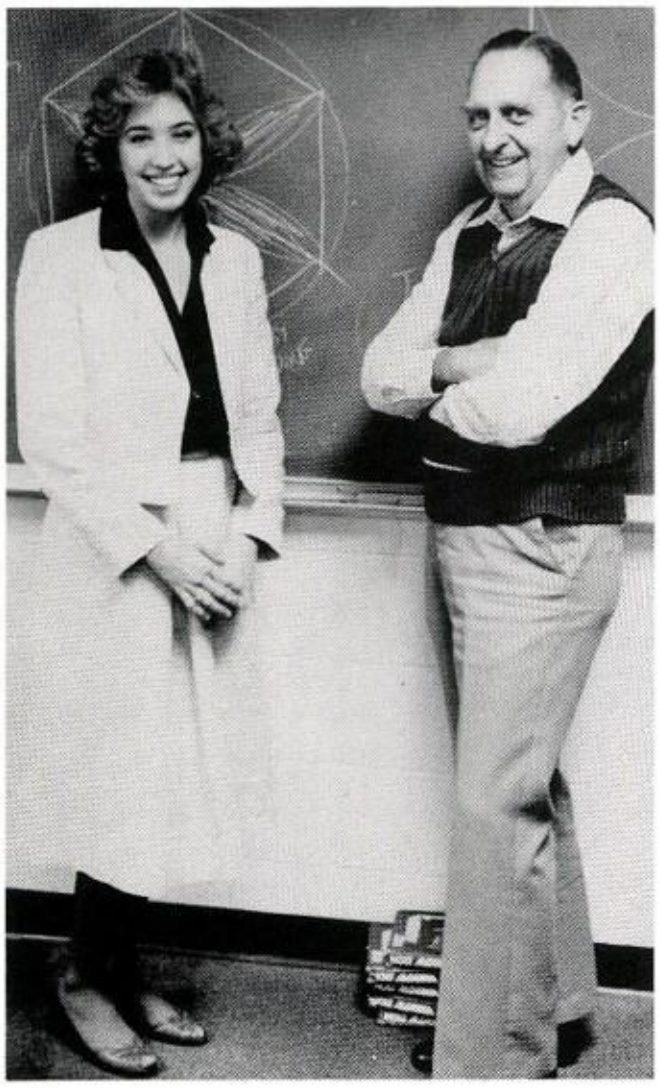
You've Got It, Mrs. Ball!

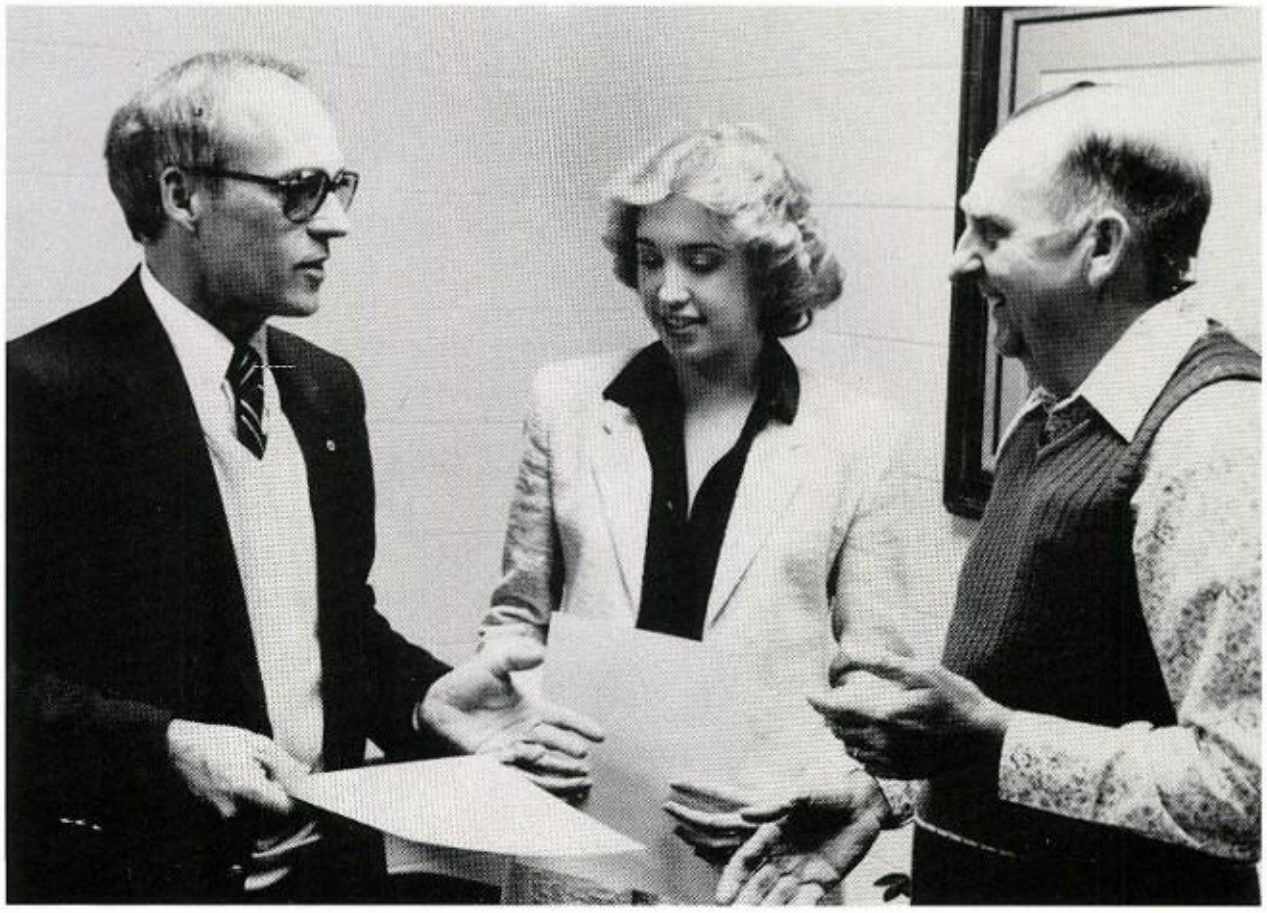
Mrs. Rebecca Ball

We, the Wildcat Staff, take great pride in dedicating the 1985 WILDCAT to a terrific lady who always stands out in a crowd. Much more than a teacher or an advisor, this woman is a true friend who is always willing to help students and faculty alike with their problems, whether they are academic, social, or personal.

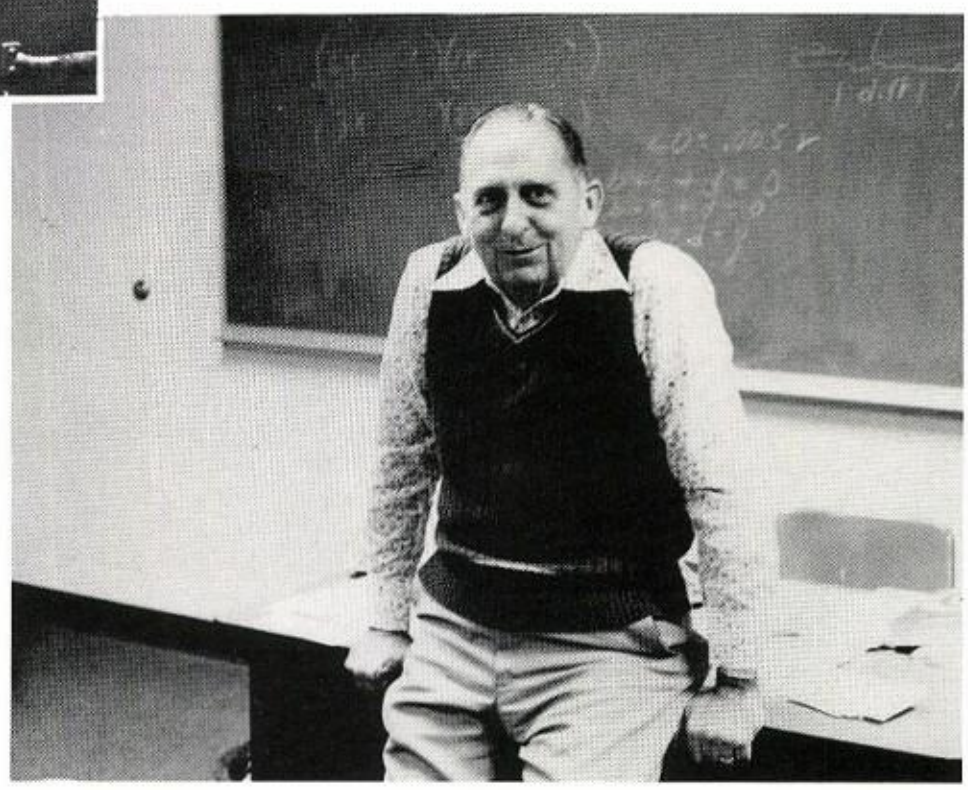
Her ability to relate to her students through her sense of humor and her determination to inspire students to strive to exhibit their utmost ability are two of her most distinguishing characteristics. Her dedication to the student body and our staff is phenomenal. The creativity, the super-human stamina, and the long hours she has put into the yearbook are what make it possible to have an annual we can all be proud to call ours. With these thoughts in mind, the Wildcat Staff would like to dedicate the 1985 WILDCAT to a wonderful lady, teacher, and friend - Mrs. Rebecca Ball.

Two "Stars" Appear on the Horizon





Every year, the senior who scores the highest on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) is named the Star Student. Paige Bagley took this year's honors with an SAT score of 1320. Paige's favorite subject is math, and she chose Mr. Van Estes, her trigonometry instructor, as the Star teacher. Paige finds understanding the concepts behind the math formulas to be quite interesting. She especially enjoys solving geometric proofs. Mr. Estes places emphasis on understanding these concepts. Paige plans to spend her first year of college in the Honors Program at the University of Georgia.



Diversified Seniors Named to

KYLE CHRISTIANSEN

Kyle Christiansen has been on the Annual Staff for four "long" years. The first two years he was a "flunkie," meaning he got to do everything that no one else wanted to. But his hard work paid off ! In his junior year he was named darkroom manager and, finally, in his senior year he became editor. Mrs. Ball said she chose him for editor because "Kyle is a very responsible and dependable person. He's someone you can count on. He always stays calmer than I do!"

Kyle is also involved in Student Council and Senior Beta, and he has been on the baseball team for four years. Kyle's awards include the leadership and math awards, and youth of the month for the local paper. Kyle's favorite subject is math. He said, "I like to work with numbers and figure out problems." Kyle has applied for admission to Annapolis Naval Academy. If he does not attend Annapolis, he wants to attend Georgia Tech to study Aeronautical Engineering.

In his spare time, Kyle enjoys fishing, boating, and other outdoor sports.

Kyle

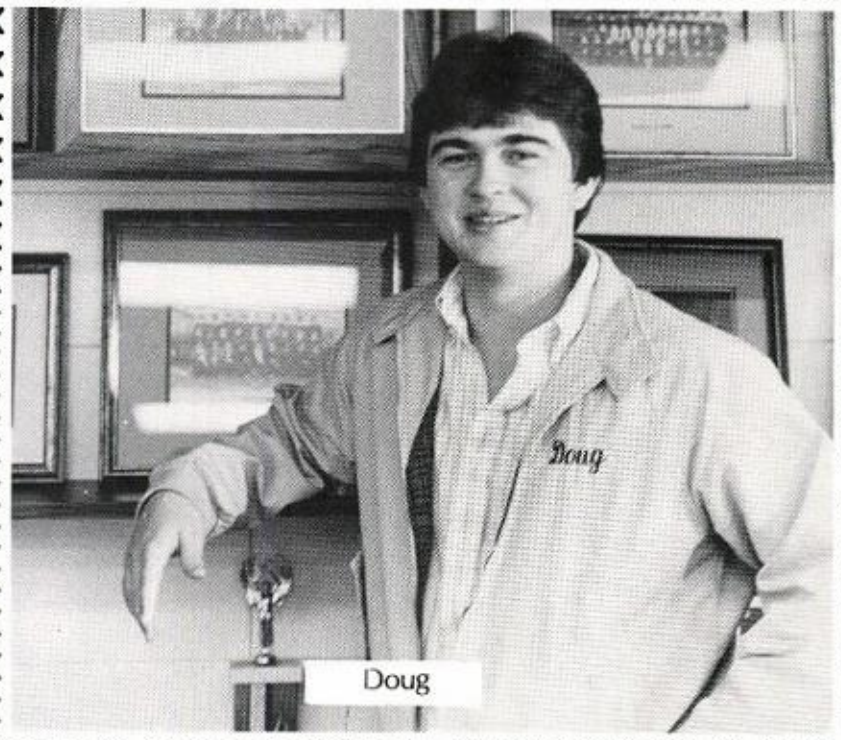
DOUG HAYMANS

Doug Haymans has devoted his entire school years to the 4-H club. In fact, known as Mr. 4-H himself, Doug has gained many rewards from his involvement in the club. Besides being president of our local 4-H club, he is very active in state 4-H. Doug was both district winner and state winner for his project in the Conservation of Natural Resources. He has also won the Georgia 4-H award and earned the citizenship and leadership pins. Doug feels that 4-H has provided him with many opportunities that he would not have had otherwise.

Doug has a well-rounded schedule of school activities. Besides 4-H, Doug is also a photographer for the annual staff, an active member of the debate team, and he participates on the track team. After school, Doug works as a desk clerk at the Holiday Inn; and in his spare time, what little he has, he enjoys attending basketball games. Teachers and students alike agree that Doug is a "good old sport."

In school Doug enjoys chemistry. When asked why, Doug replied, "I like the challenge of trying to solve problems, and Bobby Rahn is an excellent teacher. Chemistry is a very interesting subject. " Mr. Rahn described Doug in this way - "Doug's pleasant and witty personality makes him a delight to have in class."

Immediately after high school, Doug plans to become a Rock Eagle Camp Counselor for three months (4-H again?). His far-reaching plans include attending the University of Georgia in the School of Arts and Science. He hopes to obtain a Master's Degree in Marine Biology.



Doug

Holly

HOLLY WATERS

Who is always friendly and has a smile for everyone? Holly Waters, of course. Holly's favorite subject in school is word processing. Working with computers is "relaxing and enjoyable." Holly commented, "I feel like I've really accomplished something when I do a piece of work that was all my idea."

Holly is a member of the Literary Club, in which she competes in Home Economics. Holly stays busy as vice-president of FBLA and competes in the category of public speaking. Holly hopes to again go to competition in both these areas this year.

In her free time Holly enjoys reading, counted-cross stitch, and riding horses. She is interested in photography and takes pictures in spare moments.

When asked who she admires the most, Holly replied, "my mother - she loves me just the way I am."

After finishing high school, Holly plans to spend her first year at Armstrong State College and then transfer to Georgia Southern University for her final three years. Her dream includes becoming a physical therapist or another career in the medical profession.

Holly is proud of her accomplishments, but most of all she feels she is "finally growing up !" Her teachers seem to agree, for Mrs. Haddock was heard to say, "Holly is among the finest stu dents to ever come through Richmond Hill High School. She has a great attitude about most everything."

"All-Star" Faculty List!

Paige

PAIGE BAGLEY

Outstanding senior Paige Bagley is involved in the academic side of school. She has been a member of the Senior Beta Club for three years and has represented the school for three years on the math team. She is currently vice-president of the Literary Club and competes in spelling. Although this is only her first year on the annual staff, Paige has already earned the title of assistant Copy Editor. During her high school years, Paige has strived to maintain her "A" average and was named Star Student this year.

Paige's favorite subject in school is math, or more specifically trigonometry. She said she finds math "interesting and challenging." Mr. Estes commented, "Paige has an excellent reasoning ability. This, combined with her pleasant personality, makes her a joy to have in class.

After high school Paige plans to go to college for four years. She will spend her first year at the University of Georgia in the Honors Program. After getting her bachelor's degree, she will work a few years, then return to college to receive a master's and a doctoral degree. She plans to major in a field that uses math and design principles.

In spare time, Paige plays the piano, reads, and participates in water sports.

She admires her "granddaddy" above anyone else. "He is the funniest man I have ever met, and he is very intelligent," she stated.

LaVonda

LAVONDA FULWOOD

When one thinks of girls' basketball, one automatically remembers LaVonda Fulwood. LaVonda has been a member of the Richmond Hill girls' basketball team for the past four years. Obviously, she really enjoys basketball to dedicate so much time and effort to the sport. At last year's sports banquet LaVonda received the prestigious Coach's Award. When asked who she admires the most, LaVonda replied, "I must admire Coach John Rahn because he has really helped me this year to become a better basketball player. He has pushed me to the limit." She further went on to say, "If possible, because of Coach Rahn, I will further my basketball abilities when I attend college." Coach Rahn feels LaVonda is an exceptionally well-mannered young adult. He said, "She has great offensive basketball skills with the ability to achieve."

LaVonda's favorite course at school is crafts. She delights in engaging in different projects, and she says Mr. Moeller makes class fun.

In her leisure time LaVonda enjoys skating at the local rink, going to the movies, and, like most girls, talking on the telephone.

After graduation, LaVonda plans to attend Draughon's Junior College.

Kevin

KEVIN DAVIS

Although Kevin Davis enjoys his position as Copy Editor on the Annual Staff, his heart lies with the Industrial Arts Club. Last year he participated in the Industrial Arts tournaments in Atlanta, Georgia, and hopes to again return this year in drafting. His accomplishments in this field include the Drafting Achievement Award. When asked his favorite subject in school, Kevin with no hesitation replied, "drafting." His future plans include attending Southern Tech in Atlanta, Georgia, and majoring in architecture.

Kevin is a good student and always strives to do his best. His dedication to his work is evident in all his subjects and from his first place win in the Science Fair last year. His research paper, Hormones: the Body Regulators, required much time and effort.

After school one can find Kevin working at the exclusive River Oaks Plantation. Even though some may identify his job as manual labor, Kevin prefers to call himself a "groundsman."

When he is not working, Kevin enjoys motorcycle riding, the ever popular "hunting," and just riding around.

Kevin's teachers have always enjoyed having him in class. As Mrs. Ball commented, "Kevin is the type of student every teacher wishes for."

Ashley Ward Crowned 1984 Miss Winter Star

Ashley Ward, representing her seventh grade homeroom, was crowned "Miss Winter Star 1984." Miss Ward competed with twenty-nine other girls in the auditorium of the Richmond Hill Elementary School. The pageant was sponsored by the FBLA and directed by its advisor, Barbara Haddock. Representing homerooms, clubs, and local businesses, the girls were judged in three categories: costumes, casual wear, and evening gowns. The five finalists also had to respond to questions asked by Kelly Blackstone, Miss Georgia USA of 1982. The contestants sang and danced to "Deck the Halls" after the five finalists were announced. The audience was also entertained between judgings by Christie Cook, Laurie Gill, and Lanie Hancock. Miss Blackstone then announced Kim Hall second runner-up, Michelle Ruiz first runner-up, and Ashley Ward as the winner. Tina Casey, "Miss Winter Star 1983," crowned Miss Ward to conclude the evening.

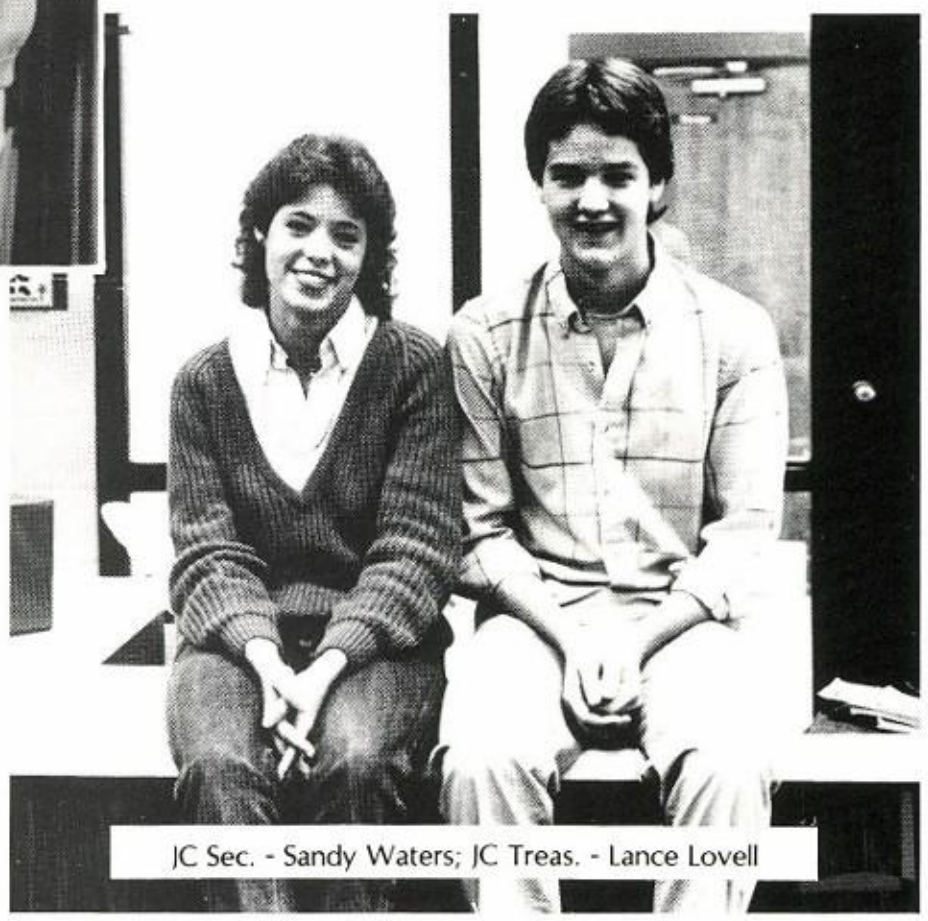
Class Officers Take Charge!

JC Pres. - Lisa Stringfellow; JCVP - Michelle Ruiz

"Are you sure you don't want to buy a magazine?" . . . was the question asked by every junior earlier this year. Magazine subscriptions and the now infamous Lifesaver Lollipops were the two projects the Junior Class officers supervised. All proceeds went for a terrific prom.



JC Sec. - Sandy Waters; JC Treas. - Lance Lovell

Suitcases and flowers may seem to be a strange mixture, but for the senior class it was a winning combination. The senior officers were overseers in the sales of the infamous Tom Watt and the carnations for Valentine's Day. All proceeds from these events went to pay for the graduation ceremony and a gift to the school.

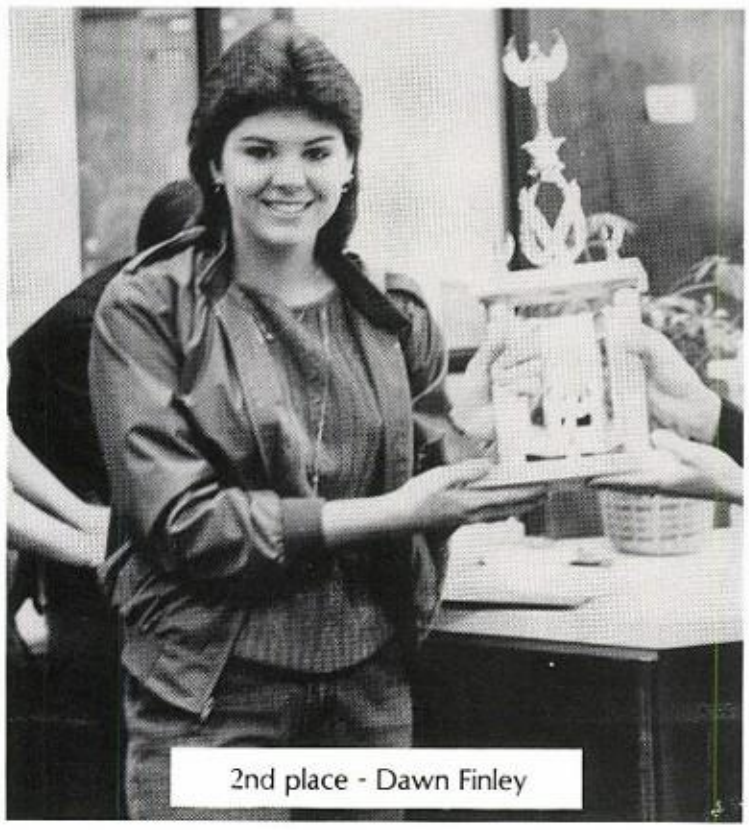
Sophomores Sweep Up at Science Fair



2nd place - Dawn Finley

The top four places in Richmond Hill High School's annual science fair were all captured by sophomores. The fair, held January 21-25, displayed fifty-seven projects and eleven research papers.

Dr. Beverly Pestel, assistant professor of chemistry and director of general chemistry, and Dr. Gary Johanning, assistant professor of chemistry, both of Armstrong State College, were welcomed back this year to judge our fair. Impressed by the quality of the work, Dr. Pestel and Dr. Johanning invited the students to come and visit the chemistry department at the college.

Melissa Ansley took first place with an experiment entitled "The Effects of Birth Control Pills on Plants." Dawn Finley took second place with a project entitled "Which is the Better Insulator - Gypsum or Wood?" Third place this year was a tie between Cheri Anderson and Travis Gerrald. Cheri's research paper was entitled Physiological Disorders, while Travis entered a project called "Alcohol and its Effects on Hamsters." Mrs. Hanson, head of Richmond Hill's science department, was satisfied with this year's response but hopes next year's will be even greater.

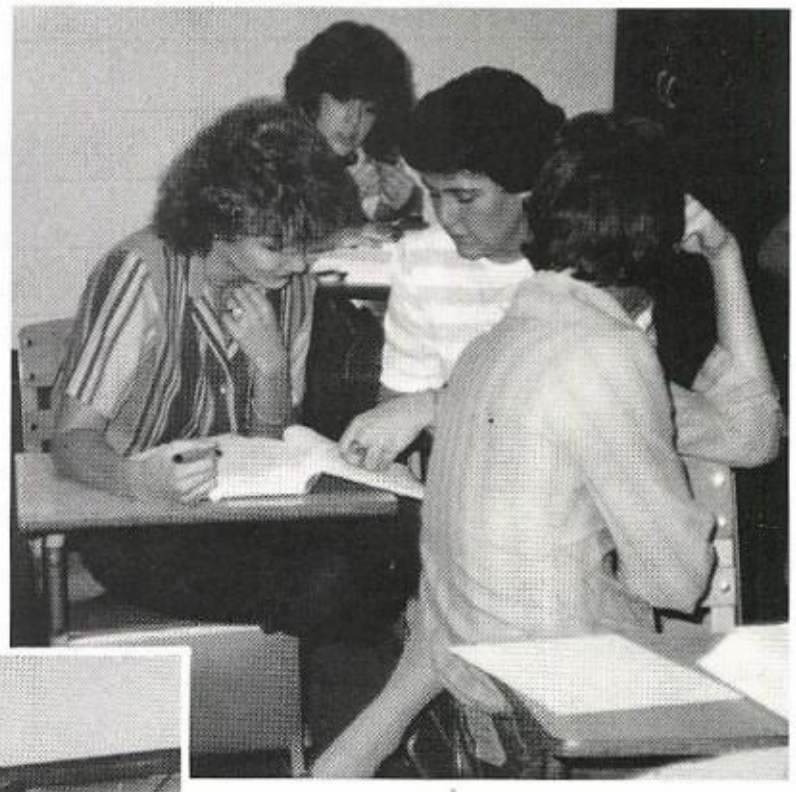
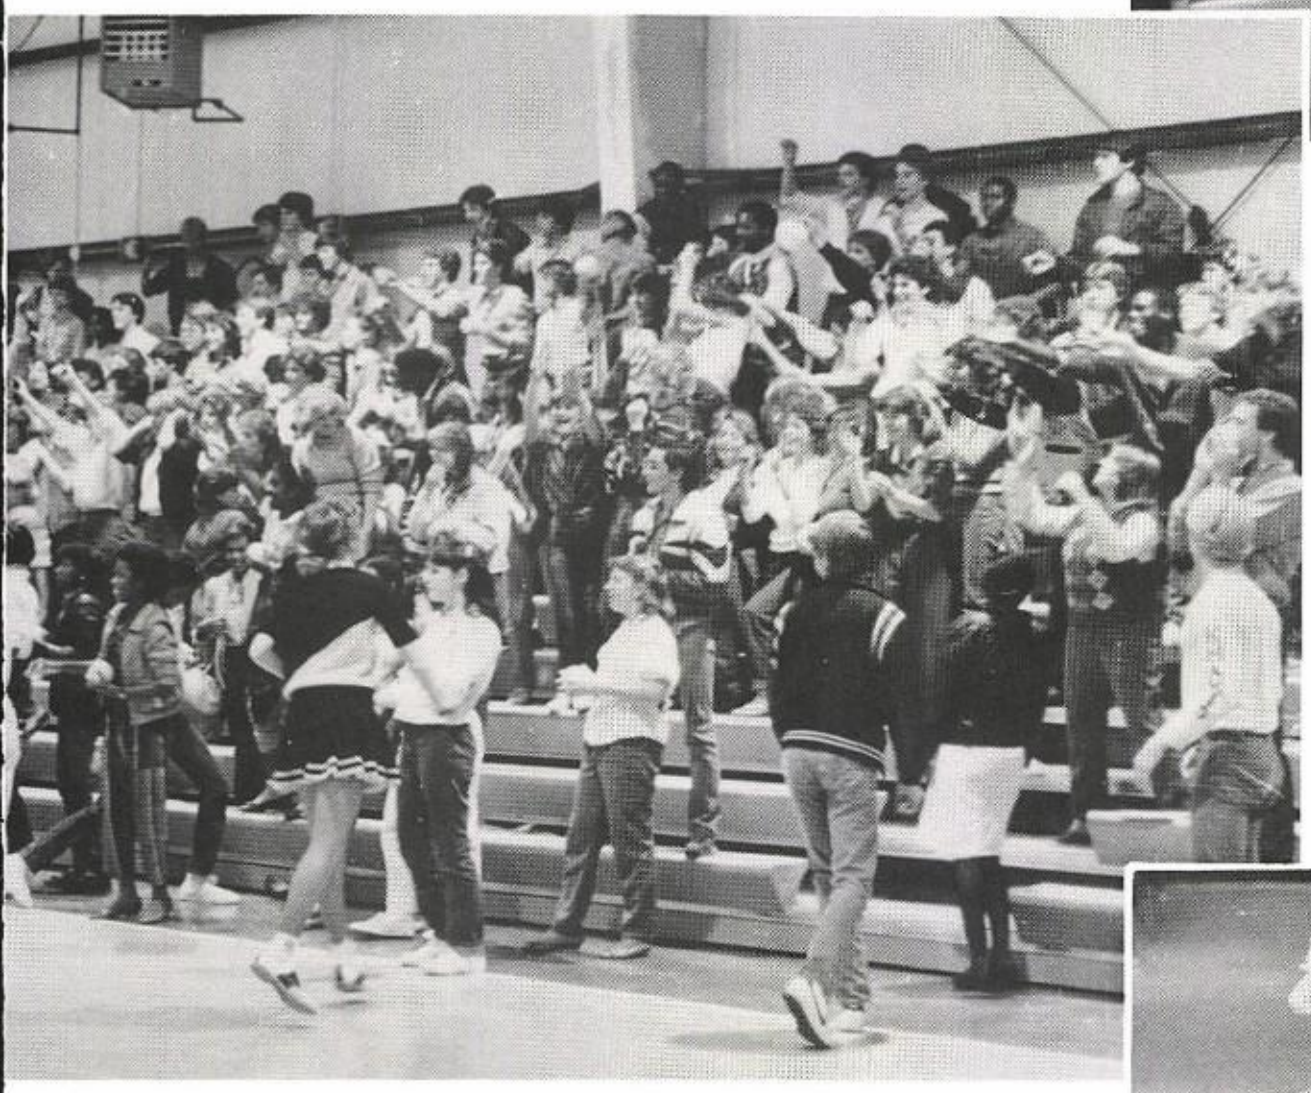
Class!

The students that inhabit the halls of RHHS possess an assortment of mannerisms. The scholarly type of student - formerly known as bookworm - can be found eating from a lunchbox, hiding a pencil behind his ear, arguing his point of view, and carrying a stack of books because lockers are too much trouble. The "cool" type of fashion-conscious student is observed wearing parachute pants or brilliantly colored-florescent clothing. This type of student has an overflowing locker and never has all the necessary materials for class. He eats lunchroom food when it suits his fancy, and he brings a brown bag filled with goodies like Jolly Ranchers. Then, of course, there is the more typical student of average or better intelligence, neatly dressed, slightly unorganized, and fairly punctual.





RHHS has a variety of students: the brains, the trendsetters, the conscientious, the neat, the sloppy, the organized, and the unprepared. Take a look!

The Late Bird Gets D-Hall

Sure you've heard of the old saying, "The early bird gets the worm." Well, at R.H.H.S. the late bird gets something, too - D-Hall. The "D" definitely does not stand for delightful.

When the tardy bell rings in the morning, most students are waiting to be accounted. However, some students, like April Massey, just can not seem to make it on time. (How many was it last year, 47?) Whether to homeroom in the morning or just to another class, some students find it impossible to be on time. The excuses for tardiness range from car trouble to the famous Amtrak train blocking the road to "I overslept".

But no matter which excuse a student gives, a total of four tardies entitles him to one hour of the infamous D-Hall; and infamous it is! Detention Hall is one solid hour of the most dreadful task a student could be burdened with - studying.

Mrs. Barnes (the toughest D-Hall sergeant of all) will, rest assured, have a person tortured out of his mind. "Class be seated" is her favorite opening line. The rest of the hour one sits there motionless under the evil eye of Deputy Barnes. It's a long time until 4:00 p.m.

Wisdom!

The f in faculty definitely does not mean "below 60 - failing." The letter actually stands for "fantastic." The faculty at RHHS makes attending school not only a fundamental experience but a fun-filled one. Each teacher's unique style, methods, and personality has a considerable impact upon every student he teaches. This impact may be in the form of the mighty "wooden disciplinarian" or the dreaded "D-hall." The famous reaction is always the same - "Oh, No!" Whether firm or finagled, the punishment is administered fairly .

R.H.H.S Department Chairmen

Teachers faithfully prepare their students for the real world. There are facts as well as fun filtering through these halls. There are favorite teachers, fascinating teachers, and fearsome teachers. In this section, we feature these teachers.

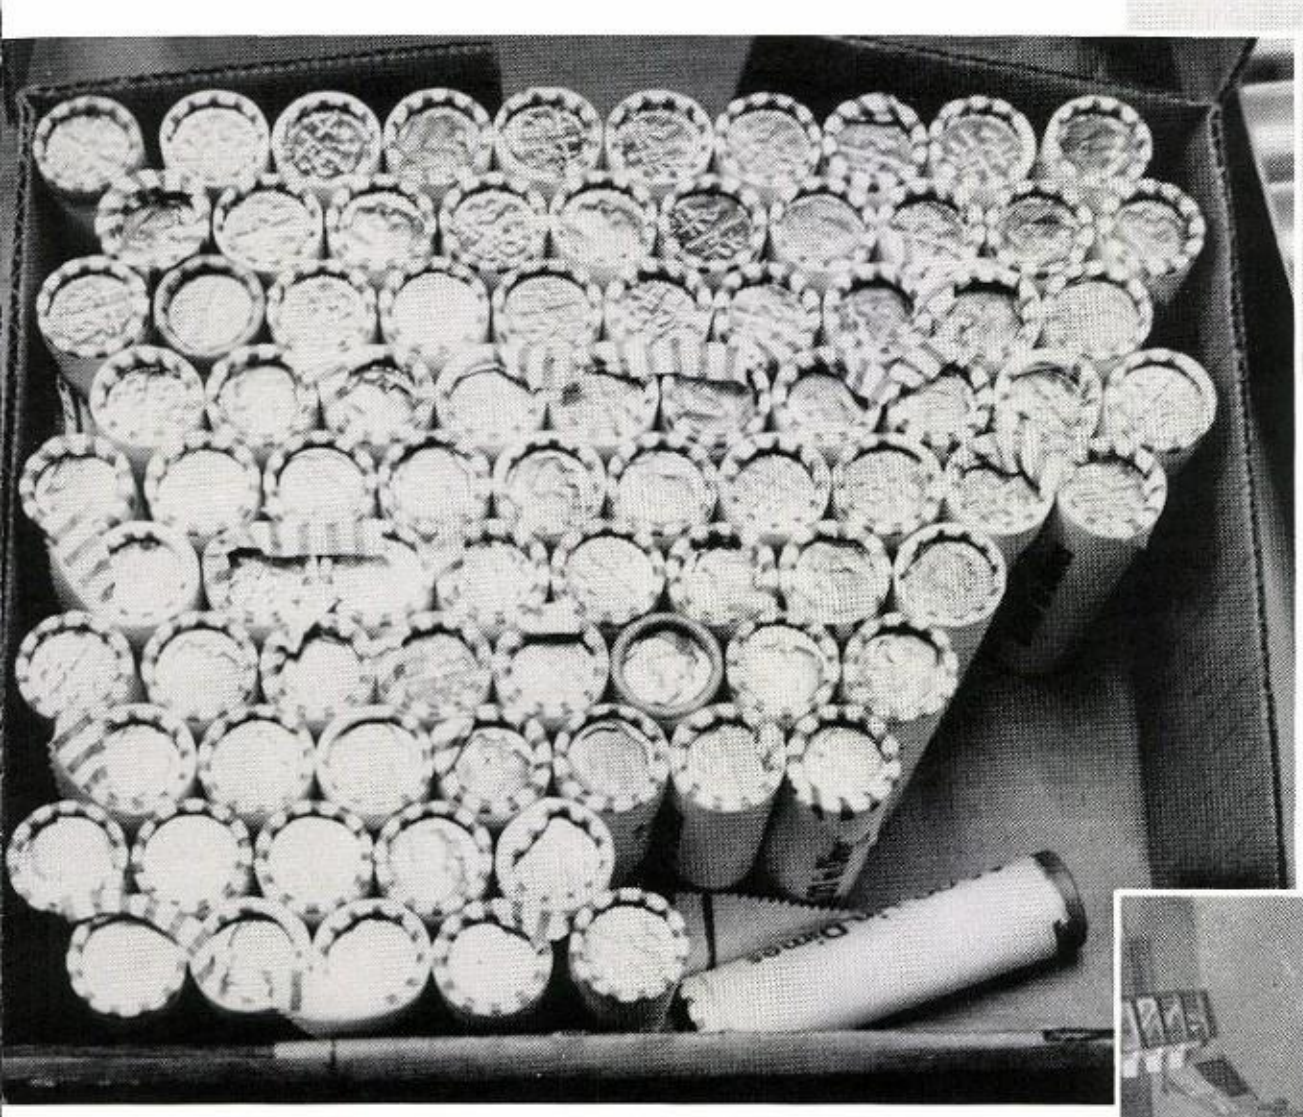
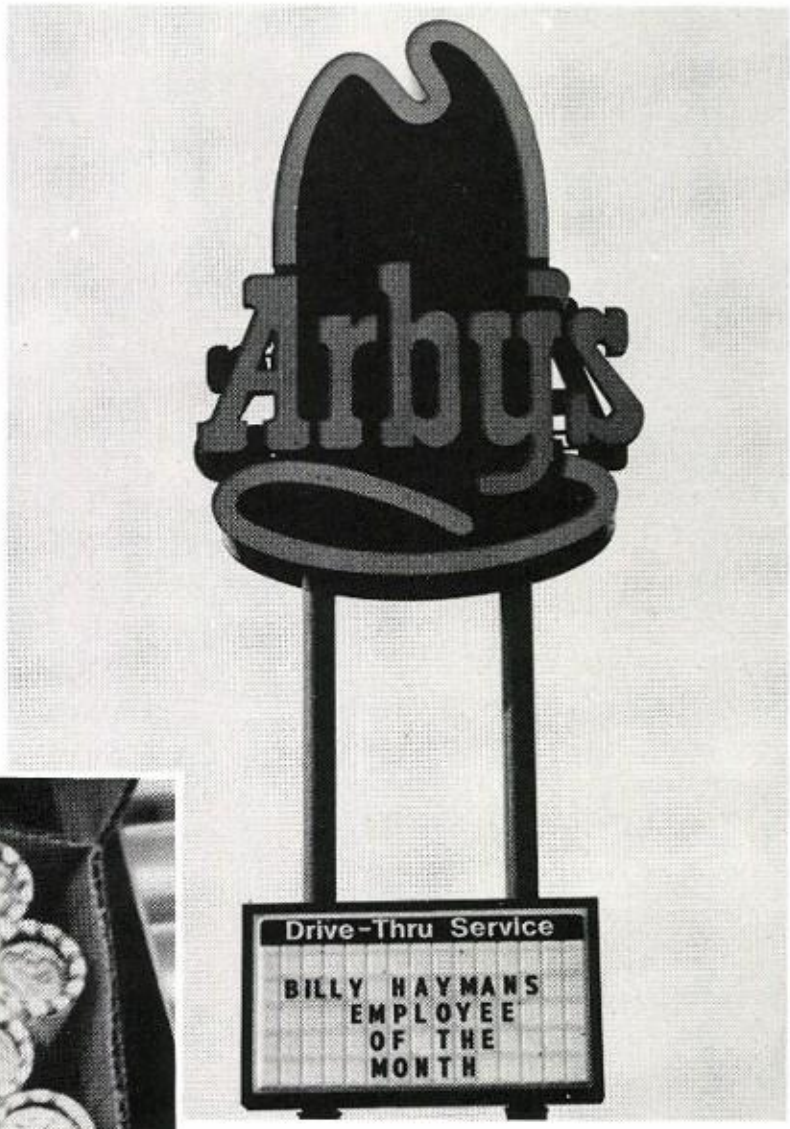
The Wildcat, like the people it serves, had its own expenses. Four-hundred speed film, photographic chemicals, and other darkroom necessities took their toll on the yearbook account. In order to make ends meet and to put out a great yearbook, the staff sold advertisements to various individuals, local businesses, and even to some larger corporations.





Priced at $100.00 for a full page, $50.00 for a half page, and $35.00 for a quarter page, the staff managed to collect $3000.00 toward their 1984-85 Wildcat's budget of $13,000.00.

Planting for the Future

Thanks to the advanced research programs of Union Camp and other forest products companies, tree farming is now more efficient than ever. Genetically superior seedlings planted today can reach a height of 60 feet in 20 years.

As we harvest each crop of trees, we replace them threefold with genetically superior seedlings from our nurseries. These plantations, which provide twice the wood fiber as those from natural stands, along with our seed orchards and nurseries are the laboratories of tomorrow's forests.

Holly,

A battered old Teddy with only one eye sits in the dining room chair; Under the sofa hides one little shoe, the one you looked for everywhere. There's mud on the carpet, along with the blocks you pick up again and again; and the small, sticky print of a jam-covered hand graces the clean window-pane! The rooms may be cluttered, the furniture worn, but there's gladness and laughter to share; a house where a child is welcomed and loved is the happiest home anywhere!

THE RICHMOND HILL HIGH SCHOOL BOOSTER'S CLUB

SALUTES

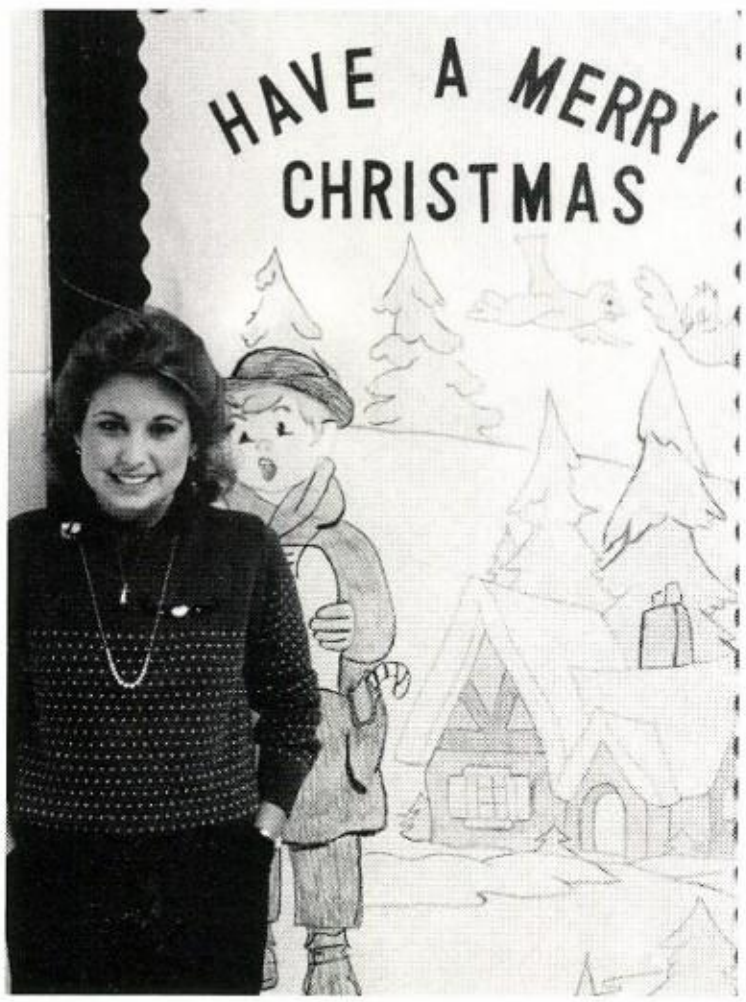
THE SENIOR CLASS OF 1985!

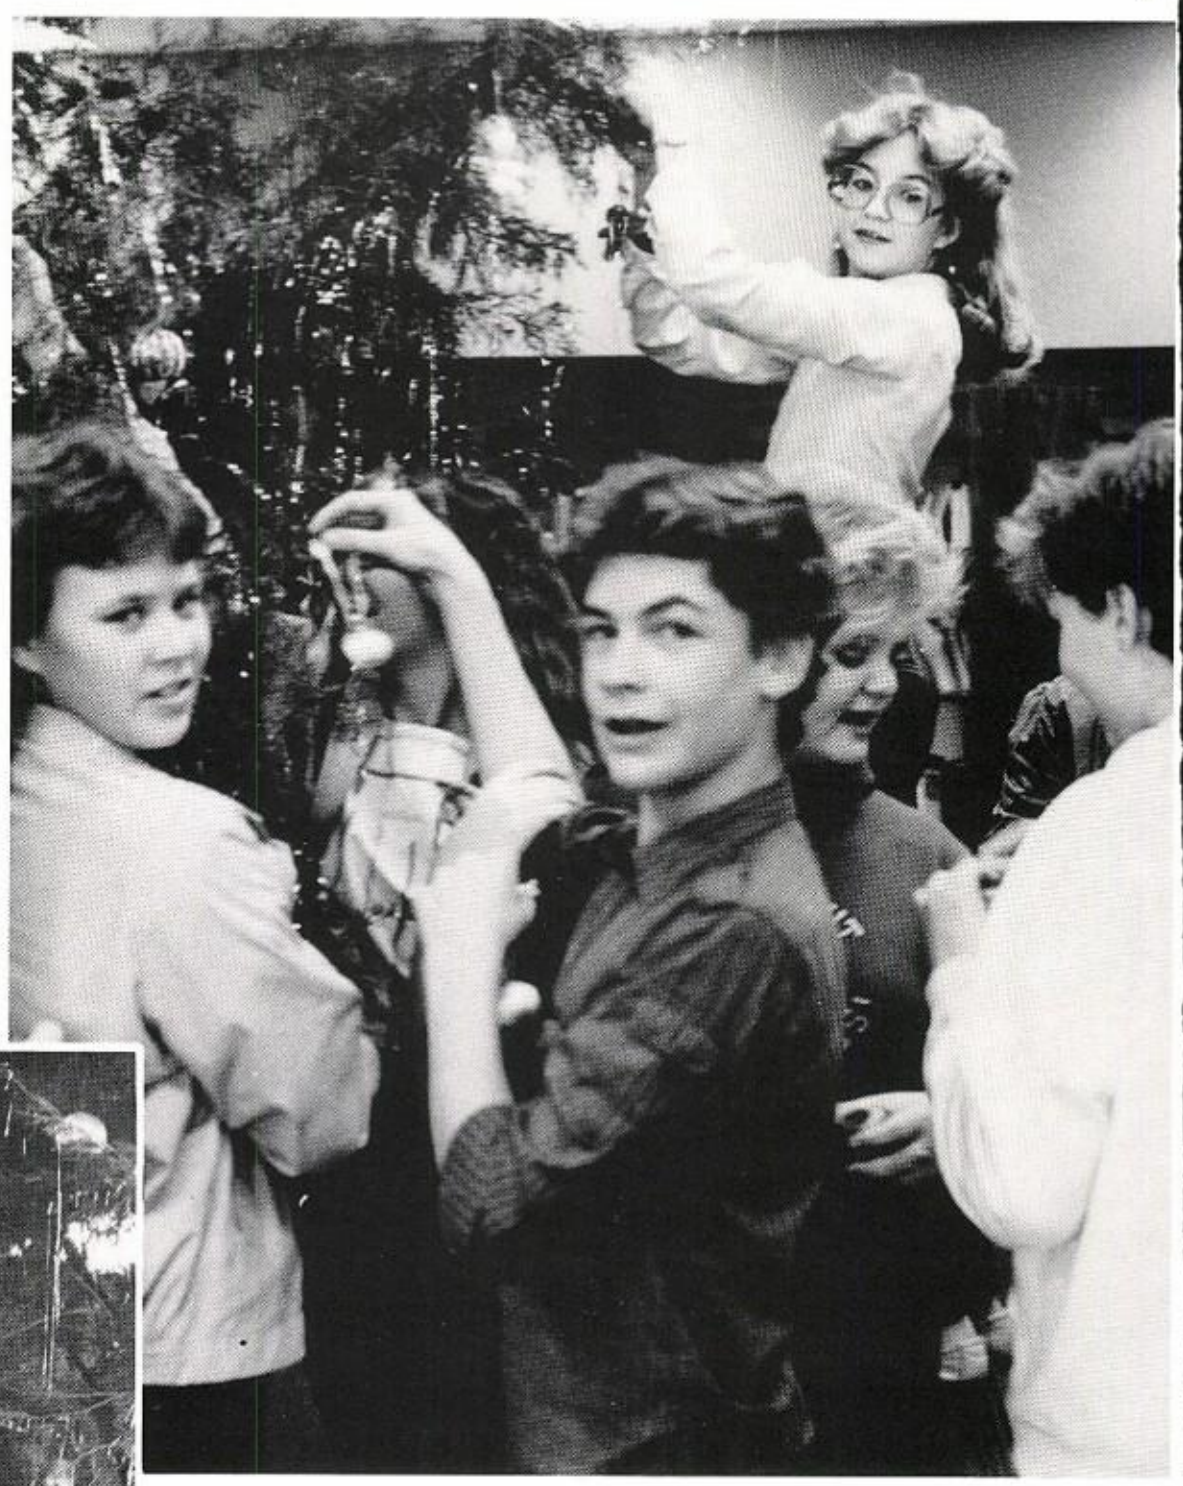
Spirits and Saints Haunt

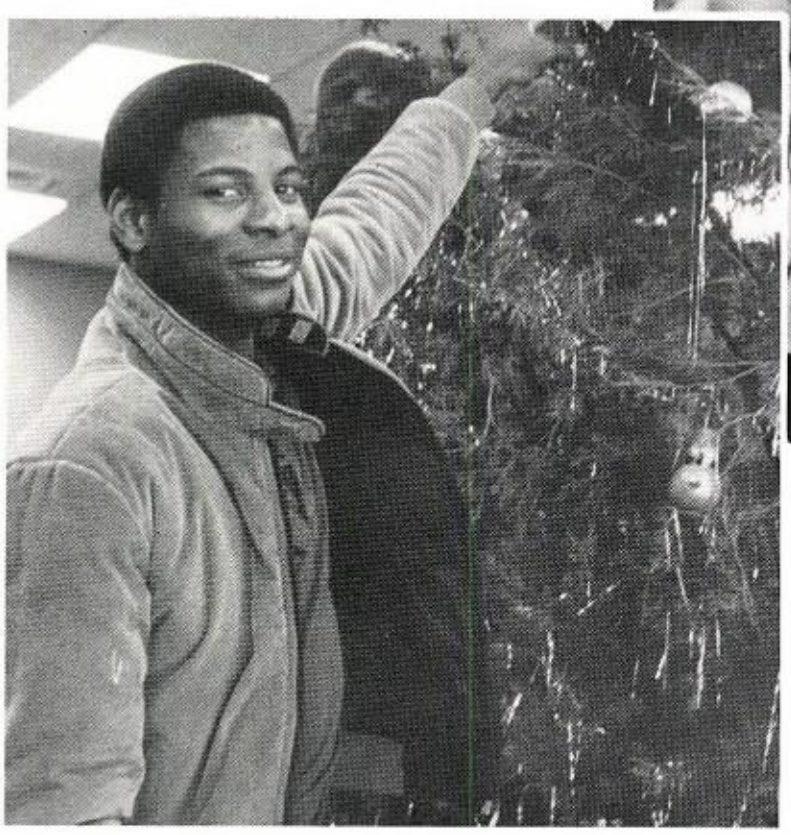
Halloween is a special holiday at Richmond Hill High School. It brings enough candy for even the greediest seventh grader, and it brings out every type of costume imaginable. We had Georgia Gill as a clown, of all things; Sherri Carothers as a witch; Travis Gerrald as a singer; along with a real ballerina (Sherri McLendon) and Tinkerbell herself (Sandie Lucas). Halloween this year seemed to bring more feelings of youth and adventure than ever before. We even had some juniors and seniors to dress up. Right Madonna?

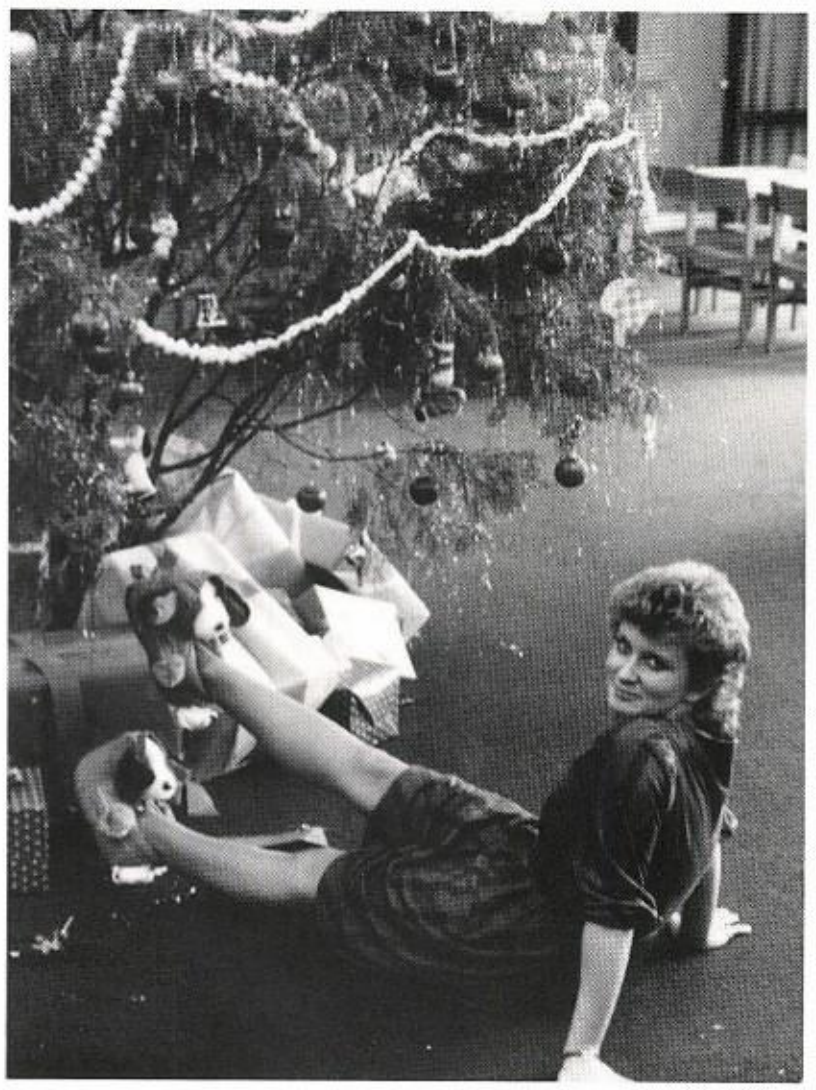
the Halls at RHHS!

We Had Ourselves a Merry





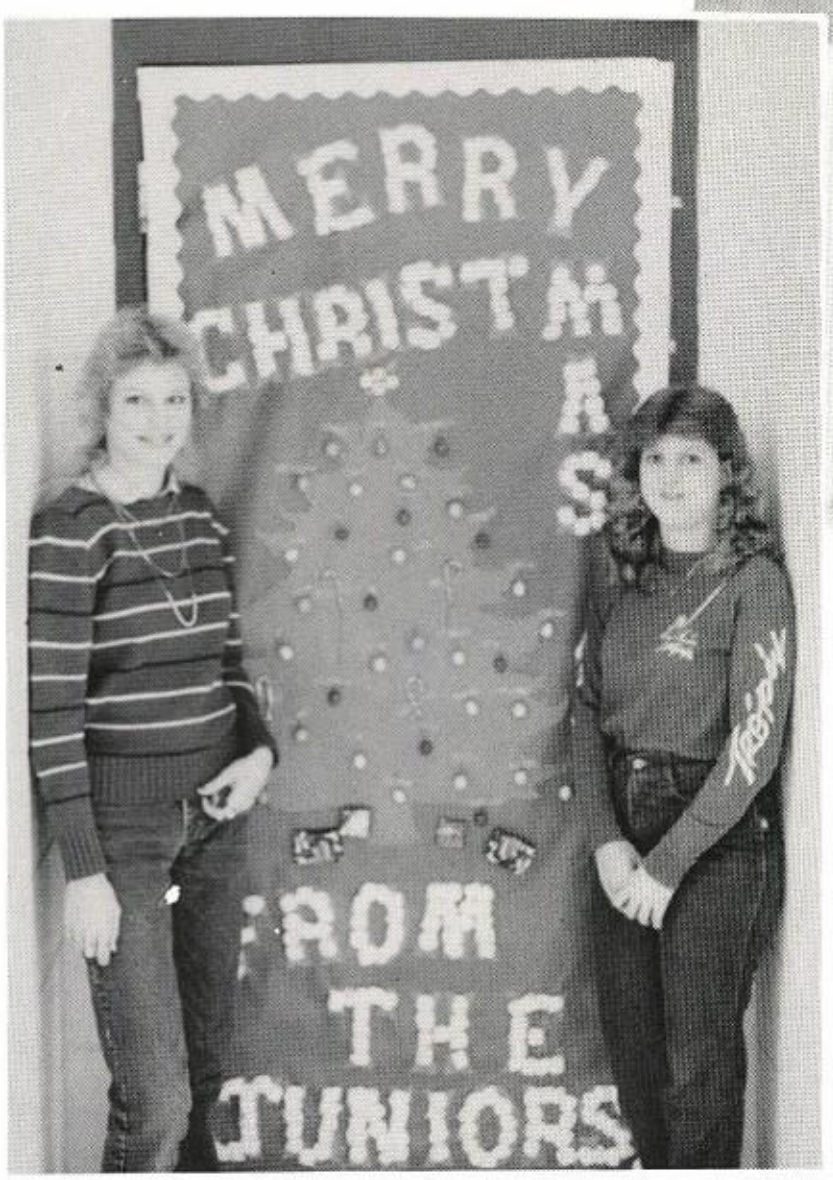




Little Christmas!

This past Christmas was a very special event for both the students and faculty at RHHS. As usual, there were gifts and a two week vacation to enjoy, but this year we had an extra taste of something that made it all even better - good spirits that seemed to run almost rampant. Students spent hours decorating homeroom doors with Santa Clauses, Christmas trees, and candy canes, while the faculty celebrated together at a Christmas party given after school in Mrs. Morris' room. Georgia Gill sat on Mr. Fields' lap and presented him with the faculty's Christmas present - a gift certificate.

Everyone was able to enjoy the school's Christmas tree, a gigantic cedar placed in the library. The tree was chosen, cut, and transported by seniors. Afterwards, the tree was decorated with ornaments that were permanently donated by students and their families. Several students contributed ceramic ornaments they had hand-made in Mr. Moeller's art classes. Mrs. Siddall just had to show off her "dogs" that Shirley and Tami gave her as a present.

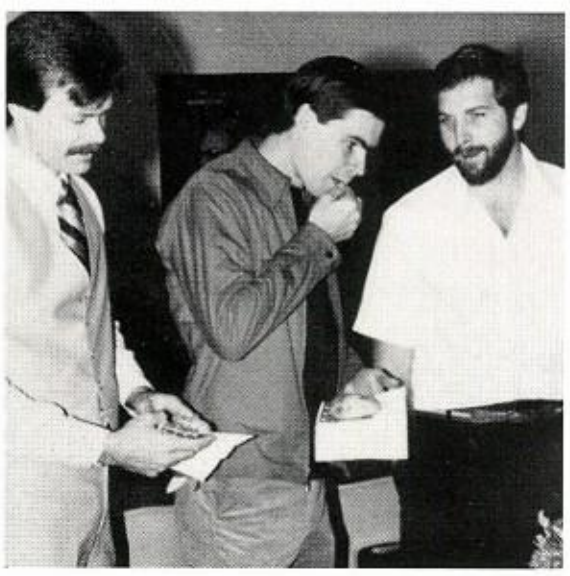


"Educational Excellence: Our Nation's Strongest Defense" Is theme for National Education Week

From November 12th to November 16th, faculty, students, and other administrative personnel took part in numerous activities. On Monday, the executive committee of the Booster's Club was invited to school for lunch and a tour of the facility. Dr. Brewer and the Board of Education were invited to join the faculty on Tuesday for a breakfast sponsored by the Junior and Senior Beta Clubs. They were invited to stay and visit classes for as long as they wished.

Wednesday was Student Day. Students were thrilled with no exams and no homework.

Support Personnel Day was Thursday. Teacher's aides, cafeteria workers, custodians, bus drivers, parent volunteers, secretaries, and substitute teachers were invited to a reception, which was sponsored by the FHA.



Friday was Faculty Appreciation Day. Students were urged to do something nice for their teachers that day. The Student Council presented each staff member with a red apple. Also, a breakfast was given at 7:15 a.m. for the faculty.

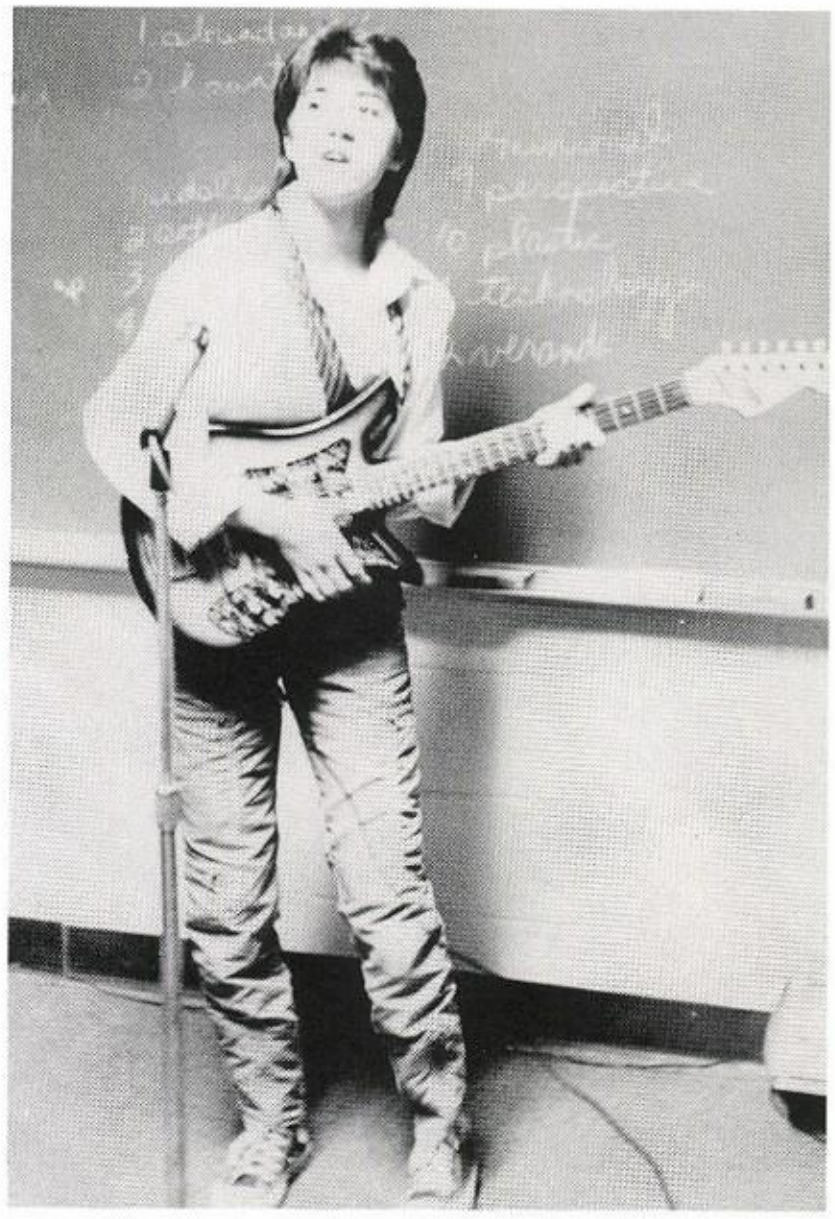
It's Friday!!!!!!

The shriek of a bell shatters the silence, and the expected quietness lurking throughout the building becomes instant and utter chaos. Herds of students stampede the narrow beige hallway in a virtually uncontrollable frenzy. Lockers slam with resounding bangs. Is it a fire drill? No. Is it a locker check? Wrong again. It's FRIDAY!!

The frantic footrace to the parking lot is accompanied by the reving of engines, the squeal of tires, and earsplitting blasts of music. As each and every student abandons their "home away from home," the teachers heave a sigh of relief. Heaven help Savannah, though!

On, the Sights (and Sounds)

Lip Sinc . . .



Oh, the sights (and sounds) of some of our students! This year saw a fad take over many young people in America - the lip sinc contest. Perhaps inspired by last year's video craze, these contests occurred everywhere, from national television to night clubs - even to Richmond Hill High School. HIGH SCHOOL!? That's right, Mrs. Coffield's drama students held their own lip sinc performances as a semester test, and some of her students even performed in the library and gym so that the faculty and other students could watch. Many interesting things happened! Chris Brown called Lynn Pecenka up "to say I love you." He knew that he "better be good" to her. Lisa O'Neil had her eyes on Chris, too, (guess she didn't know that he was "Somebody's else's guy"). Liz Proman is still holding on to her "lucky star." Missy Boone, however, is having no luck at all; it even "rained on her prom night!" Monica Messorio was after the "Human Touch," but Selena Parrish "just wanted to have fun."

The contest was judged by teachers, and Lisa O'Neil, Lynn Pecenka, Donna Caudill, Chris Brown, and Selena Parrish (imitating Jocelyn Brown, Tina Turner, Stevie Wonder, Cyndi Lauper, and Patti Smythe respectively) all received the highest score possible.

of Some of Our Students!

We've Got Leisure Time!

Because we're such a small school, RHHS students have little time to engage in pastimes other than those involved with the school. But those who do have the time participate in a wide variety of activities. Chris Birch and many others are active in scouting. Ashley Ward and Kristy Wilson allot their leisure time to modeling or dancing. Everyone, including Phil Clark, has time for breakdancing. Computers, balloons, and games also occupy some of our students' spare moments. Even though sometimes we have to search for it, WE'VE GOT LEISURE TIME!

It Was a Year to Remember!

INTERNATIONAL -

The deadlock over arms control became more urgent than ever as technology hurdled forward, creating weapons that may soon be impossible to control. The Super-powers negotiated the issue for months this past year and President Reagan held a face-to-face meeting with foreign minister Andrei Gromyko, the most powerful Soviet diplomat in decades. Unfortunately, little was resolved.

One windy night in Central India, a chemical storage tank at a Union Carbide plant sprang a leak and spread a cloud of deadly gas over the city of Bhopal. More than 2,500 people were killed and as many as 100,000 injured. Fears of the possibilities of similar accidents occuring in other places and of the chemical age itself are spreading the globe.

A vast drought began to spread famine across central and southern Africa and has killed thousands of people already. Millions more are endangered. Richer nations have responded with huge outpourings of sympathy and relief aid. Corporations, as well as individuals, have contributed food and money.

An estimated two billion television viewers around the world saw American athletes capture most of the glory in the games of the Olympiad. American cyclists broke a seventy-two year medal drought, and the four American relay swimmers broke world records. Mary Lou Retton delivered several "perfect 10's" and won a gold in the all-around women's gymnastic competition. Carl Lewis carried home a triumphant total of four gold medals. The American male gymnasts, led by Peter Vidmar and Mitch Gaylord, even managed to beat the Chinese at their own game and carried home yet another gold medal for the Americans. The partisan crowd in Los Angeles roared with excitement at the awesome demonstrations of these and other American contenders.

Just three weeks after the historic operation that prolonged life for Baby Faye, the baboon's heart inside the infant's chest beat for the last time. Still, sorrow could not erase the strides made by the transplant. Fifty-two year old William Schroeder was the recipient of the world's second artificial heart. Four days after it was implanted the Jarvik-7 heart began to beat perfectly. Murry Haydon became the third artificial heart recipient. While these three operations raised many hopes, they also posed many new questions of medical ethics.

NATIONAL -

The presidential election smothered the national news media this year. Although Ronald Reagan won re-election (only the second president in twenty-eight years to do so), the Democratic nominees managed to capture a lot of attention. The Reverend Jesse Jackson was the first black to seriously campaign as a candidate - hopeful, and Geraldine Ferraro was the first woman ever to be a major party's nomination for Vice President. It looked as if Reagan's challenger, Walter Mondale, would put up a good fight for a while, but Reagan ended up winning with the biggest electoral college landslide in history. After presiding over an improvised indoor Inaugural "parade" (a bow to record-breaking freezing temperatures in Washington), our President turned to second term business with vigor. He dedicated his term to curbing federal budget deficits, making progress in arms-control talks, and reforming taxes. Reagan said he wishes to achieve a "new American Emancipation." Some historians think Reagan has a chance to go down in history as one of America's great presidents, but it will not be easy.

Various sects of the American public launched awareness campaigns against pornography, drunk driving, teenage suicide and abortion. Some of the "pro-lifers" even went so far as to bomb abortion clinics.

The U.S. sent a space shuttle on a "secret" mission for the first time and also launched many long-term satellites.

Americans couldn't get enough of Trivial Pursuit games, video recorders, and Eddie Murphy. Also on the lighter side, the celebrated VICTORY tour was a huge success; the Jacksons played three full nights in some of the largest arenas in the country. Prince, Cindi Lauper, Duran Duran, and Lionel Richie dominated the radio scene. Marvin Gaye - a legend in American soul music - died this year, killed violently by his own father. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s birthday was made a national holiday; the San Francisco 49'ers won the Super Bowl.

STATE -

Georgia experienced her coldest weather of the 20th century during January; the temperature in some areas dropped below three degrees. Christmas Day, however, was a warm seventy-five degrees.

A documentary of "The Atlanta Child Murders" caused many parents to be outraged. CBS and Atlanta hotlines received more than 100 calls from upset parents.

Scholastic Test scores were improved in our school systems this year, and another healthy increase is expected next year. Test results show that students have responded well to a series of tougher standards enacted over the past two years.

LOCAL -

The Savannah Waterfront Association and other merchants on River Street had the city block off sections of the cobblestone street on weekend nights. They complained that the local teenagers have adopted River Street as a place to drink alcohol and take drugs, cruise in cars with radios blaring, and insult passersby. Merchants also say out-of-town visitors fear venturing onto River Street because of the street-to-sidewalk banter. It was also feared that the cruisers would keep fire trucks, police officers, or ambulances from reaching an emergency if one occurred.

A major tourist development made strides in 1984 as Parsons Brinckerhoff of New York opened the Great Savannah Exposition. The multimillion dollar project is designed to enhance the city's already profitable tourist industry and represent a cooperative effort between government and business. The Exposition, which cost over nine million dollars to open, was the first of a three-phase, eight million dollar restoration of the forty acre Battlefield Park. It was dedicated with much fanfare on February 16, during Georgia Week.

Richmond Hill's population increased even more dramatically this year than in past years. The city saw the coming of a number of new subdivisions, restaurants, and private businesses. Many of our students obtained jobs at the new Arby's on Highway 17. February 13 brought the installation of our first traffic lights at the intersection of Highways 17 and 144.

SCHOOL -

Our school took pride in a new gym and an art and music building, and also acquired its first band director, Anthony Logsdon. Our art teacher, Charles Moeller, was hired to design an album cover for the singing group "Special Cookin'."

Another parking lot and computer lab were also added to our campus.

Our lunchroom won first place in district competitions for attractiveness, cleanliness, quality of food, and percent of participation.

The Exchange Club of Richmond Hill started the "Student of the Month" program, and senior Kyle Christiansen was our first winner.

The student body's annual drive for food to give to the needy during the Thanksgiving holidays was especially successful.

As usual, the carnation sale by the Senior Class was quite successful. Everyone delighted in the giving and receiving of flowers on Valentine's Day.

As we look back over our '84-'85 school year, we will remember not only the events themselves, but the people we shared them with to make our memories so special.

We've Got a Terrific Editor!

As I look back over the pages of this year's annual, I remember all of the good times we have had - and all of the rough ones. It seems like just yesterday that I was in the seventh grade trying my best to survive the hassles of junior high life. My work with the annual staff began in the ninth grade when Tracy Bacenas and I were chosen to be "gophers." In the tenth grade I helped with layouts, and in the eleventh grade I was promoted to darkroom manager. Being chosen as editor this year was as great an honor as it was a surprise. I thought I would finally get to come out of the darkroom and tell everybody else what to do instead of having them tell me. It didn't work out that way though; it seems as if I spent more time in the dark than ever before.

The staff was great ! Everyone worked hard. We all pulled together to meet our deadlines, but we did have our share of obstacles to overcome. Pictures were lost, cameras were seldom loaded correctly, film was exposed, or the pictures were not taken at all. Copy was not written on time, layouts were drawn incorrectly, and it seemed like we would never get rid of all the chocolate bars. In spite of all this and thanks to Ms. Ball's determination, we met all of our deadlines. Without Ms. Ball's constant "nagging," we could not have gotten through the rough times.

I would like to give special thanks to all of the students and faculty that have supported the annual. We hope you enjoy looking at the annual as much as we have enjoyed putting it together ! As you can see as you look through the pages, we've got it all!

Kyle Christiansen
